BUSINESS IN CONGRESS.

The Senate has devoted the entire day and evening to the consideration of the Tax Bill in Committee of the Whole. The proposition to tax savings banks was agreed to, after a long discussion, by the casting vote of the Vice-President. This action may be reversed when the bill is reported from the committee. The amendments changing the tax on tobacco, cigars, etc., were passed over. The amendment providing that gold or coupons shall be estimated at their currency value in computing incomes was agreed to, also an amendment providing that railroads shall be taxed on receipts derived from the transportation of passengers and freight from one point in the United States through Canada to another point in the United States.

The six hundred million loan bill was passed by the House to-day substantially as it came from the Committee, and as it appeared in the Times of Feb. 26. A few amendments of not very important character were made. The phrase, "other obligations" in the bill was changed so as to read "treasury notes." It also provides that all bonds or loans heretofore authorized yet unissued shall be issued in accordance with the provisions of this act. It is also provided that the Secretary may pay to all creditors of the Government notes issued under this act, in case creditor elects to take them. The main feature of the bill is the discretion awarded to the Secretary to issue gold bonds or seven-thirty convertible bonds; in effect continuing the present popular mode of raising money. There was a desire manifested to prohibit the issue of any more gold bonds, but Mr. Boutwell pressed the points of foreign demands strongly, and the matter is therefore at the option of the Secretary. There is a strong proviso in the bill against issuing anything that may be construed as legal tender, but the Secretary has the privilege of issuing any amount of simple interest notes not a legal tender.

The Tariff Act, as reported by Mr. Morrill, was considered up to the recess, and a lively debate was had on the proposed additional tax of $3 per ton on railroad iron. No progress was made.

This evening the report of the House Naval Committee was the special order. The bill to create the office of Solicitor of the Navy Department was passed. When the bill to appropriate one hundred and ninety thousand dollars to the officers and crew of the Kearsarge, in lieu of prize money for the destruction of the Alabama, came up. Mr. Cox, of Ohio, distinguished himself by strong opposition to it, in which he was sustained by most of the Democratic members. The bill was finally referred to the Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union, which is equivalent to throwing it over to the next Congress.

POWELL'S PICTURE APPROPRIATION.

The resolution which recently passed the house appropriating twenty-five thousand dollars for a "naval picture," to be painted by Mr. Powell, passed the Senate to-day. Mr. Sumner strongly opposed its passage, and to-day in the course of his remarks he read a number of letters from artists in New-York City opposing the purchase of this picture, and severely condemning its pretensions to be considered a work of art. Messrs. Collamer and Conness "handled without gloves" these art critics, and preposterously suggested that their representations would have been more enhanced if they had sent to Washington specimens of their proficiency in painting, rather than carpings at the "most successful of their number." Mr. Powell has not yet decided upon the subject for his picture, but it will illustrate, in his style, one of the greatest naval victories in American history. It will be placed in the Senate wing of the Capitol, in a position corresponding with that occupied in the House by Leutze's "Westward the Star of Empire takes its way."

ASYLUM FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS.

Senator Wilson obtained the unanimous consent of the Military Committee to-day to report a bill providing for an asylum for our disabled soldiers. There are one hundred incorporators, and they represent nearly every section of the country. The first is headed by Lieut.-Gen. Grant.

THE FREEDMEN'S BILL.

The Conference Committee on the Freedmen's Bill have arranged the disagreements between the two Houses. The bill, as agreed upon, makes it a bureau in the War Department, subject to such regulations as that office may deem advisable. The committee's report will meet with considerable opposition in both Houses.

THE COTTON PERMITS.

The House Committee on Commerce have completed the testimony in regard to the subject of cotton permits, and will make their report on Thursday or Friday. It is not likely any action will be taken respecting this matter, owing to the lateness of the session.

VISITORS TO GRANT'S ARMY.

A delegation of the United States Christian Commission from New-York, consisting of Rev. Drs. Scudder, Chambers and Duryea, Messrs. M. K. Jessup, S. H. Wales, J. C. Holden and D. Willis James, have gone on a visit to Gen. Grant's army.

MOVEMENTS OF GEN. MEADE.

Gen. Meade, who has been in Philadelphia to attend the funeral of his son, returned last night and left at once for the front.

THE GOODYEAR PATENT EXTENSION.

The Senate Committee on Patents had under consideration to-day the Goodyear Patent extension. It appears that in the new bill presented to the committee they do not ask for any extension of the monopoly. It provides that all persons shall have a right to manufacture under this patent, on the payment of a tariff, not to exceed two per cent. on the net amount of sales, thus throwing the business entirely open to the public. There is a disposition in Congress to do something for the family, provided it can be done without the continuance of the great monopoly and with due regard to the public interest.

MILITARY NOMINATIONS.

The President has sent another large batch of military nominations. Among them were the names of Gens Schofield and Howard, who are nominated Brigadier-Generals in the regular army.

THE PRESIDENT AT THE CAPITOL.

The President was on the floor of the Senate today, just after the recess. It was one of his rare visits to the capitol.

SURVEYOR AT NEW-YORK.

The nomination of Abram Wakeman for Surveyor of the Port of New-York, was favorably reported to-day.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

Washington, Tuesday, Feb. 28.

FREEDOM OF ELECTIONS.

The President has signed and approved the act to prevent officers of the army and navy and other persons engaged in the military and naval service of the United States from interfering in elections in the States. No troops or armed-men are to be brought to the polls, unless it shall be necessary to repel armed enemies or to keep the peace; nor shall it be lawful for any officers to prescribe or fix by proclamation, order or otherwise, the qualifications of voters, or in any manner to interfere with the free right of suffrage. Officers so offending are liable to indictment for misdemeanor, and on conviction to be fined not exceeding five thousand dollars, and to suffer imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term of not less than three months nor more than five years, at the discretion, and any person so convicted shall moreover be disqualified from holding any office of honor, profit or trust under the Government of the United States. Other guards are also thrown around the elective franchise.

KIDNAPPING NEGROES.

In response to an inquiry of the House of Representatives, the Secretary of War has communicated a document from Gen. Augur, which shows that early in July, 1864, numerous complaints were made by the Deputy Provost-Marshal, that bounty brokers were kidnapping and running off colored men without paying them a cent. These complaints were submitted to the Secretary of War, who ordered that no colored men should go North without a pass. Colored men can obtain passes to leave Washington on their showing that they are not enrolled in this district.

COMMODORE VANDERBILT'S GIFT TO THE NATION.

It appears from an official document that the amount received by Commodore Vanderbilt for the charter of his steamer Vanderbilt, for one hundred and fifty days, at $2,000 a day, was $303,000, before he presented that vessel to the Government.

THE ST. ALBANS RAIDERS.

The Government is advised that the St. Albans raiders on trial at Montreal, have been remanded for eight days, Judge Smith, the presiding magistrate, being still sick.

A BLACK MAJOR.

Martin R. Delaney, of Pittsburgh, has received a commission as major in a regiment of United States Colored Troops. The Major is a black man, and this is believed to be the first instance in which one of his race has been commissioned to such a command in our army.

CRIMINALS SOLD AS SUBSTITUTES.

The House Committee for the District of Columbia have, by investigation, ascertained that recently seventy persons committed to the jail of this District, have been bailed out and sold to substitute brokers. Five or six of them were charged with grand larcenies, the remainder with trivial offences. The committee say that wrongs have been committed, and outrages on public morality and public justice perpetrated, which call for the interference of Congress; and so far as may be for the punishment of the guilty by existing law. The report shows the operations of the officers of the jail in the matter of brokerage. The committee have prepared a bill making it an offence punishable with fine and imprisonment of persons to sell to substitute brokers those confined in jail charged with criminal offences.

A REBEL RAID THWARTED.

On Saturday night last, a party of rebels, numbering about 150, under command of Lieut. Taylor Wood, of the rebel navy, and nephew of Jeff. Davis, left the Gocomico River in sloops and small boats, bound on a raid to Smith's Island, with a design of destroying the light boats. The gunboat Yankee and several other of our boats were informed of their movements, and at once started in pursuit of them. It may be, as our gunboats were last night shelling the woods in the vicinity of Smith's Point Light, on the western shore, that the rebel gang had returned to that point and had escaped to the main land. Wood's is the same party who captured the Satellite and the Reliance.

Col. R. Goodrich, military State agent at Washington.

Boston Wool Sales.

Boston, Tuesday, Feb. 28.

Osgood & Son sold at auction, to-day, 733 bales of the best quality of Cape wool; terms cash in fifteen days, or acceptable interest-bearing notes of sixty days. The attendance of buyers was quite large, but the prices realized are considered low. One lot of 18 bales brought 57 cents, but the average price was from 47@54 cents per pound.

The Steamer Oceanus.

Providence, R. I., Tuesday, Feb. 28.

The steamer Oceanus, ashore on Narragansett Beach, was got off this morning and towed to this city. The vessel is believed to be little injured. Her freight is all safe. The United States cutter Miami assisted in getting her off.

GEN. SHERMAN'S ARMY.

Reported Junction of Schofield's and Sherman's Forces—A Corps of Surgeons and Nurses Sent to Wilmington—A Battle Expected—Confidence of the Government in Sherman's Success.

We are informed that private letters have been received in this city announcing, as probable, the union of Gen. Schofield's forces with Gen. Sherman's army, on Monday, the 27th inst. The point of junction is not stated.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

Washington, Tuesday, Feb. 28.

In anticipation of a battle between Sherman and Johnston, of which we may receive intelligence at any moment, the War Department has dispatched a well-appointed corps of surgeons and nurses to Wilmington, from which point they will be sent forward to Sherman's army. They are amply provided with hospital stores, and everything necessary to the care of the sick and wounded.

The rumor that Schofield has formed a junction with Sherman is regarded here as altogether probable; but the Government is confident of Gen. Sherman's ability, even without Schofield's forces, to take care of himself and manage any force the rebels are able to send against him. Still, as Lee will undoubtedly exhaust every available resource in the effort to check Sherman's audacious advance, the speedy junction of the two armies is desirable, as making assurance doubly sure.

The arrival of deserters from the rebel army continues in a steady stream. Many of them, before they leave our lines, are separately examined, and their testimony for the past few days is to the effect that A. P. Hill's corps has left for the south to aid in resisting Sherman. If this should prove true, it is deemed absolutely necessary that Lee must shorten his lines, which necessity is the only ground for the rumored evacuation of Petersburgh.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

Mysterious Rebel Movements—Deserters' Reports—Immense Influx of Deserters—Return of Gen. Warren.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Right Wing, Army of the Potomac, Saturday, Feb. 25, 1865.

I find that the impression that something unusual is transpiring in the rebel lines is almost universal here, and the supposition that Gen. Lee is preparing for an early evacuation of Richmond and Petersburgh rapidly gains ground. Deserters who came into our lines on Thursday and yesterday, report that most of his army is under marching orders, and provisioned for six days, and this is believed to mean that he intends either to evacuate and endeavor to concentrate the entire rebel force in the vicinity of Lynchburgh or Danville, or send away from his own army reinforcements to Beauregard, to enable that General to oppose successfully the advance of Gen. Sherman. To reduce his own army to the extent necessary for the accomplishment of this latter object would, it is thought, weaken Lee so much as to render him incapable of holding the position he now occupies; and, therefore, the theory of evacuation is more generally entertained than the other.

On Thursday morning the rebels opened a heavy fire on the extreme right of our line, on the south side of the Appomattox, firing principally from Fort Chesterfield—a very large and strong fort they have on the north bank of the river—and from a smaller work on the south bank. It was sometime before our folks replied, but when they did so the cannonading was rapid, furious, and remarkably accurate. Several heavy siege guns were brought to bear on Fort Chesterfield, and with such good effect as to completely silence that work in about an hour and a half. The firing from their other fort also ceased soon after. Those who have witnessed nearly all the cannonading on this front, describe this as the most terrific they ever beheld. The firing was extraordinarily rapid and accurate. Fifteen of our shells were seen to explode within Fort Chesterfield, and it was plainly perceptible that that work was very seriously damaged. Very little damage was sustained by our works, though we lost seven men killed and wounded by the bursting of the rebel shells.

Yesterday morning another furious artillery duel was commenced on the front of Gen. Potter's and Gen. Hartranft's division of the Ninth Corps, and with little intermission was maintained till nearly sunset. This was also begun by the rebels, and they continued it an hour, perhaps, before eliciting any reply. A large number of their shells exploded within our lines, some of them being thrown a great distance, but up till this hour no casualties have been reported. Further along, on the centre and left front, quiet prevailed during the day, but picket-firing is the regular pastime at night.

A squad of deserters who came over on Thursday night were fired upon furiously, but strange to tell, not a man of them was injured. After they reached a place of safety, some of our men inquired how it was that they all escaped. "Oh," said the spokesman of the party, "Them fellers fired too high to hit us!" "Yes, yes," returned the picket officer, "but why did they fire so high?" "Oh! why, don't you know?" answered the rebel; "well, it's because they are coming over themselves to-morrow night!" Another lot of fifty-three deserters, from a South Carolina regiment, who also came in on Thursday night, reported themselves as "peace commissioners." They said that as Messrs. Stephens, Hunter, and Campbell had failed to make terms with the Administration and bring them back into the Union, they concluded to come over themselves and see what they could accomplish in that line. One of this number declared that they had gone into this war to "put down the heresy that a negro is as good as a white man;" but as that doctrine was now apparently about to be adopted at the South, and the negroes were to be placed in the ranks there and made their equals, they wished to go North, where there were fewer of such equals to be found. The introduction of negro soldiers into the Southern army is represented as being exceedingly distasteful to the white men, and likely to make desertions far more numerous than ever.

The number of deserters reported at army headquarters, in the last twenty-four hours, is one hundred and eleven. This makes an aggregate of over three hundred in three days, on this side the Appomattox, and two hundred on the north side. Those received here generally hail from South Carolina and Georgia. Many of them bring their arms with them, and the cavalry, in some instances, horses and equipments. Yesterday morning one of their teamsters came in on our left, and brought his team of six mules and wagon. He sold the wagon and mules to the Quartermaster's Department. Among the deserters are several commissioned officers, but these generally conceal the fact of their rank, and report themselves as privates.

Gen. Warren, whose absence I noticed a day or two ago, has returned already, and resumed command of his corps. He is one of the most diligent and efficient General officers in the army, and is seldom absent for a longer period than a day or two at a time. On this occasion I believe he was not further than City Point, though the report gained currency that he had gone home.

HENRY H. YOUNG.

The Troops Under Marching Orders—Another Struggle for the South Side Railroad Imminent.

Correspondence of the N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Hatcher's Run, Saturday, Feb. 25.

We are now under marching orders, having received instructions to be ready to move at a moment's notice. We expect to have another tilt for the possession of the South Side Railroad, and look for a heavy engagement. The possession of this road will render Petersburgh of no further importance to the enemy, and its evacuation will doubtless immediately follow, if we are successful.

That something is going on in the lines in front of us is very evident. I do not believe, however, as do many, that Lee is purposing to retreat, from the simple fact that he has no place to retreat to; though the deserters, who are coming in now in greater numbers than ever, report that he is getting ready to fall back on Danville. I do not credit their statements. Lee will make his last great fight right behind these formidable works, and right here the Confederacy will find its "last ditch."

As you are aware, we have now a series of signal towers along our entire line, and almost every movement of the enemy can be observed. Lee could not fall back for the purpose of overwhelming Sherman without having Grant, in less than six hours' time, thundering close upon his rear.

FROM CITY POINT.

Rejoicing Over the Fall of Wilmington—Signs and Portents from the South—Increase of Deserters—Bad Roads—Watching for Lee to Strike.

From Our Own Correspondent.

City Point, Va., Thursday, Feb. 23, 1865.

Scarcely have the echoes of our salute in honor of the fall of Charleston died away, when we heard of another being given all along the lines, to day, in commemmoration of the evacuation of Wilmington. Indeed, during the temporary horrible condition of the roads, no other occupation seems to come more agreeably to our bemudded men than to gloat over the New-York papers, and read the daily history of the magnificent events so rapidly and surely culminating in final victory.

People here, it would seem, have at last to look to Northern papers and sources from our own side for anything like full information of the good things daily befalling us, since the rebel press has grown so sulky and taciturn.

But while the Richmond papers are thus vainly trying to hoodwink—not us but their own people—events, over which they have no possible control, are constantly occurring to render idle all their efforts. The fatal tide of reaction in the South has already commenced to set in; a reaction far more terrible for the rebel leaders to contemplate than even their victorious but merciful Northern conquerors. We see it in everything and everywhere; in the half-threatening, half-imploring orders of Gen. Lee; in the bullying fulminations of the Sentinel—Jeff. Davis' whipper-in; in the everlasting outcry, among the affrighted editorial old ladies of Richmond, of "Sister Annie, Sister Anne, do you see anybody coming yet?"—across the Atlantic from England or France? and in the rejection of the nego-arming bill by the Senate, which we learn in their papers of to-day, and which Sir Lucius O'Trigger would call "a very pretty quarrel as it stands." But we see this tide of reaction most evidently in the rapidly-increasing desertions from their lines into ours; as I am safe in asserting that not less than 200 of them have escaped into our lines, during the last two days, including a whole guard on picket duty, who brought their muskets along with them in broad daylight.

The Examiner of to-day has one very significant letter, from a correspondent in camp, which should not escape republication, for it gives us a very excellent peep behind the curtain. This correspondent's nostrum for putting their army upon a propor footing for the Spring campaign is "discipline"—by which I understand him to propose sending a whole army to hunt up absentees, any of whom, failing to return by a certain time—no matter how high or how low in rank—shall be shot down like dogs. He blurts out the significant fact that they do not want any more men, because they cannot feed and clothe those they have already; tells the story of a recruiting officer who was obliged to refuse men, because of his inability to obtain the necessary clothing; offers his name for publication, if any one dares to dispute his correctness; and tells his people with a logic so sound and unanswerable as to give us the the gratifying idea that there is at least one sane man left in the Confederacy: "What folly, then, to talk of adding more men to our army, (and especially of introducing into it a very doubtful element, the negro soldier,) when we cannot, for want of supplies, avail ourselves of recruits now anxious to be enlisted."

I spoke of the horrible condition of the roads. They are worse just now than they ever were; for the disappearance of frost having left the clayey earth in a perfectly rotten condition, they are all but impassable for heavy wagons and artillery. This is not likely to continue long, however; and as nobody dreams that Lee, like a hare pursued by a weazel, is going to lie down in his foam and be taken, but rather expects him, like a cornered rat, to fly desperately at anything and anywhere, we are all looking out, day by day, for some frantic move of the enemy, to avoid the toils fast gathering around him.

J. R. HAMILTON.

DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF.

Indications of an Early Movement—The Draft—Blockade-Running on the Texas Coast.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

New-Orleans, Wednesday, Feb. 15, 1865.

PROMISES FOR THE FUTURE.

If all that is transpiring in these regions, and has been for the past two weeks, could be set forth in print, it would certainly be made manifest to the people that, if the forces here have been hibernating they will hibernate no longer. The indications of a speedy and energetic renewal of activity are numerous, and cannot escape the attention of the most superficial looker-on.

First, the movements in the Quartermaster Department—that indispensable system of forces which is always called on for the means of transportation, but never permitted to know what the move has for its destination—look decidedly to such a renewal. A very large force of men, over twelve hundred, is now employed, early and late, constructing a line of railroad on St. Joseph's-street through the city, from the river to Lake Pontchartrain. This, when completed, will give direct communication across the isthmus on which the city stands, and afford the only available short-cut on the overland route to Mobile. This railroad is nearly completed. Its value to New-Orleans, aside from its military uses, is readily appreciated by the citizens, as giving them a second channel to the sea. Were it not for this they could ill spare the room in their narrow streets for its construction.

Capt. Chittenden, Chief Quartermaster for the cavalry corps, has lately received orders to establish a branch office at Gallatin, an insignificant village, five miles above here on the river. This place was wholly devoid of importance, and could not have acquired sufficient to demand the presence of such an office, except for the heavy concentration of cavalry which has taken place there.

Again, there is everywhere observable that movement among the troops stationed at points about here which always infallibly presages important coming events. Regiments march and countermarch through the streets, and long trains of supply-wagons rumble heavily about, reminding one of the thunder which precedes the tempest.

Last, but not least, Gen. Canby has lately gone on a tour of inspection, and will not return to the city till the 17th.

What the purport of all this is, may be readily gathered by any one who will consider the map of this country, and the necessities of the military situation. There is a striking similarity between the courses of the campaign evidently marked out for the armies of the East and West, which cannot fail to impress one. Gen. Sherman moved out from Chattanooga, and struck boldly for the sea, planting there a new water-base for future movements. Let Mobile, in the scheme of operations in the West, stand for Savannah as a new base; and let the reader not fail to note the parallelism of the two campaigns as starting from the bases, Mobile and Savannah, and directed on "all intermediate points," as steamboat men have it, till they meet, successively, the armies of Grant in the East and Thomas in the West. Such is the grand but simple outline of the war for the Union, as it will open out in the Spring, or is, rather, already begun, at least if prophets could have the shaping of it. How often they do not.

THE DRAFT.

Any persons who have it in their minds to flee to this place to escape from the draft in the North, would do well to reconsider the matter. It would be but to leap out of the frying-pan into the fire. So numerously had the draft-skulkers congregated here from other points, that Gen. Hurlbut determined to make a descent upon them. The order requiring all persons to report for enrollment is rigidly being enforced; to such an extent, indeed, that Capt. Hibbard, in charge of enrollment, finds it necessary to keep his large clerical force at work early and late. It is an opinion which is very largely gaining ground among the citizens, that the order was made in first-rate earnest, and will be thoroughly executed, and the business in substitutes has become brisk accordingly. I have known persons who came here for divers and sundry reasons, prominent among which was a consideration for their health, who suddenly discovered that it was decidedly more healthy at home.

FROM THE TEXAS COAST.

We have received late information by the arrival here of the steamship Bienville, from off Galveston, It appears that the vessel has encountered tremendous gales off the mouth of the Rio Grande, where she had been on duty previous to coming to Galveston. For a day and a night her head was kept above water only by the incessant use of the hand-pumps, during which time it was the expectation of every one on board that the boat certainly must go down.

On the night of the 3d, the blockade runner Will-o'-the-Wisp run ashore in a dense fog which had prevailed for ten days, and which, at the same time, prevented the gunboats from doing much service. Next day the Bienville steamed down, and gave her, at leisure, at a safe distance, a destructive pounding. She was a very large steamer, and would have proved a valuable addition to the navy, but was a complete wreck. The rebels, however, got off the cargo in safety.

On the 6th another steamer, the Wren, in attempting to come out, ran ashore in a fog, and, as soon as discovered by the gunboats, became the object of a vigorous cannonade. The rebels, however, contrived to save her by their old flag-of-truce dodge. They hoisted a white flag on the court-house, which procured a temporary cessation of the fire from the gunboats, and meantime the rebels, by working incessantly, got the steamer off, and sailed away very defiantly.

Mortified at thus seeing their lawful prize slip through their fingers, two boats' crews of men, one from the Bienville and one from the Princess Royal, commanded by Ensign G. H. French, made a desperate and daring attempt to take the steamer by boarding. Owing to the swiftness of the current and other obstacles they failed, but succeeded in bringing off two schooners loaded with 480 bales of cotton from under the very guns of Fort Point, under which they lay. It was a gallant deed.

It may not be amiss here to say, in passing, that Texas is not to be permitted to be the great rat-hole of the Confederacy a great while longer, if indications are of any significance. Mobile Bay is in our hands, the fleet is not needed at that point to any extent, and is at full liberty to stir up Galveston again.

YALE COLLEGE.

All About the Students' Riots—The "March Devil"—"Public Opinion"—Bishop Clark's Remarks.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

New-Haven, Saturday, Feb. 25, 1865.

By all accounts there has been a "mob riot," or something of the sort among the classical portion of the New-Haven population. We are "on the spot," and hardly know which is the greater, the excitement between the Sophomores and Freshmen, or that between the Register and the Courier. The former believes in Fiat Justitia. The latter is more temperate in its views, and spat follows spat. So it is the Register versus the Courier, rather than the Sophomores versus the Freshmen.

By this evening a newspaper paragraph will have traveled far and wide, with the intelligence of a "riot" among the students of Yale College. What is the simple truth? After the noon recitation on Wednesday the Sophomores and Freshmen had a "rush," something which all alumni understand. But the peculiarity of this one was the fact that it took place near the post-office, instead of on or near the college grounds, out of the way of the public. But as if the rough and tumble of this "rush" in front of the post-office was not enough, some Sophomores entered the dining-room of some Freshmen, and for the purpose of depriving the latter of a hat, or cane, or both, which had been newly assumed. Hence occurred another "rush" when the faculty appeared, and the actors passed rapidly off the stage.

The time has gone by when students behaved and were regarded as rowdies, and not as gentlemen. While such an affair as this is not only rowdyish but demoralizing to character, intellectual and moral, yet no intelligent observer of student life would apply the maxim, ab uno disce omnia, (pardon the last.) Judging this affair correctly, it is no "riot," neither is it "hazing," which is a midnight performance, and meditates injury to an individual and not to a whole class. To be sure, entering a boarding-house and carrying out a Freshman strikes one as a fair case of hazing. But this was but a continuation of the excitement of the "rush;" and as ready as one is to consider the matter as foolish, rowdyish and disgraceful, it was, correctly interpreted, destitute of that malicious, premeditated character which is the nature of hazing.

In future it is to be hoped that Sophomores will have manliness enough to rush to the gymnasium instead of at the Freshmen, if any youthful exuberance has got to be worked off. Most certainly an intellectual "rush" is more manly and more profitable to their present and future reputation. We are disposed to prove the rule by the exception, and lay the whole of the affair to the charge of that sprite called the "March Devil," very well known to College Faculties, and who himself knows where students study. That he has made his annual visit to New-Haven is patent from this "Rush," and the fact that at one of the large boarding-schools here the boys smashed more than a score of their looking-glasses on the very day of the "Rush." May the "March Devil" have taken his departure hence on his way Cincinnati-ward.

A well considered article appeared in the last issue of the Yale Literary Magazine, entitled "Public Opinion." A positive and resolute mind by speaking a word in season controls the thoughts and acts of the multitude.

It seems both fortunate and unfortunate that this affair occurred on the eve of the "Day of Prayer for Colleges." It is not desirable that so important a day should be interrupted by such excitements. And yet it is most fortunate that the influences of such a day should be brought to bear upon rowdyism in high life. No better correction could be given to those engaged in these rushes than the beautiful and practical remarks of Bishop Clark, at the college meeting Thursday afternoon. He spoke of a day on these old grounds as a "day of memories" to every graduate, in which every unmanly act is a blot upon the page of college life, to be afterward regretted. And although it does not seem so strange that "a portion of the fruit on every tree should fall to the ground a failure, it is inexplicable and melancholy that an educated man should turn out a failure." "A beautiful vessel thus turned into a shipwreck, and leading nowhere."

FROM KENTUCKY.

Explanation of the Negro Impressment—Law Against Getting Substitutes in Kentucky—Cordial Welcome of Gen. Palmer by the Legislature and the Governor.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

Louisville, Tuesday, Feb. 21, 1865.

Colored folks here and elsewhere complain bitterly of their impressment, some, it is said, being taken out of their beds by "recruiting" officers, but those are reported released who are found without the scope of the order of Gen. Brisbane, (Superintendent of Organization,) which enjoins the summary enlistment of all slaves who have left their masters, of all colored fugitives whom the President's proclamation, by reason of its geographical restrictions, did not reach; and excludes all free negroes, all freedmen under the proclamation, and all slaves still with their masters. It is also reported that the masters of these impressed runaways receive the local bounty and the compensation allowed by the Government. Many loyal whites complain of the order as liable to abuse, smacking of despotic kidnapping, and tending to frighten, alienate and drive off many of our remaining blacks, who otherwise would voluntarily enlist in Kentucky, or take their chances in our coming draft.

The bill to prevent outsiders procuring substitutes in Kentucky, making it punishable with $1,000 fine and imprisonment, is a law. Discharged two years' veterans and persons from any cause not liable to draft, are not subject to our bounty taxes.

On the 20th, on resolution of Hon. J. F. Bell, (concurred in by the Senate,) the House and the Senate paid their personal respect to and welcomed Gen. Palmer as Commander of the Department of Kentucky; and afterward the House unanimously adopted a resolution of Mr. Hanson, (Conservative) that we assure Gen. Palmer of our hearty cooperation "in his patriotic efforts for the protection and peace of our people in the enjoyment of our rights under the Constitution and the laws." Gen. Palmer, in his speech to the Legislature, said he came feeling sensibly the difficulties and delicacy of his position, but felt confident that the State and Federal authorities will act in perfect harmony and concert. Gov. Bramlette avows, "I will give all my personal influence and official power to aid Gen. Palmer in accomplishing his mission amongst us, and in executing the instructions of our President."

PONTIAC.

Vote For and Against the Amendment—Defection of Gen. Whitaker.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

Louisville, Friday, Feb. 24, 1865.

The Senate, on the 22d, voted first on Mr. John F. Fisk's minority report from the Judiciary Committee, unconditionally accepting the amendment: 11 yeas, (all Rousseau;) 22 nays, (19 Guthrie, 2 secesh, 1 Rousseau, Gen. Whitaker.) The question was next on Ex-Gov. James F. Robinson's minority report, favoring acceptance on condition of $36,530,496 compensation, (assessed value of slaves in 1864,) to be provided for by Congress by 1st next January, or then absolute rejection of the amendment. Mr. John G. Landram, (Guthrie,) proposed to amend Mr. Robinson's report by rejecting the second section of the Constitutional Amendment; adopted, yeas 17, nays 15. The vote on Mr. Robinson's report as amended was 9 yeas, (5 Guthrie, 4 Rousseau, including Gen. Whitaker;) 24 nays, (14 Guthrie, 8 Rousseau, 2 secesh.) The vote then on H. D. McHenry's majority report, unconditionally rejecting the amendment, was 21 yeas, (17 Guthrie, 2 secesh, 2 Rousseau—Gen. Whitaker and Mr. Cyrenius Wait;) 12 nays, (19 Rousseau—R. J. Baker, N. R. Black, B. H. Bristow, J. H. G. Bush, M. J. Cook, J. F. Fisk, W. H. Grainger, J. D. Landrum, E. Patrick, John A. Prall; and 2 Guthrie—J. R. Duncan, W. W. Garner.)

The House, on the 23d, voted on Thomas A. Marshall's report from the Judiciary Committee, unconditionally rejecting the amendment, 56 yeas, (47 Guthrie, 9 Rousseau;) 28 nays, (27 Rousseau, A. S. Allen, Wm. Bell, T. J. Birchett, J. C. Bolin, E. A. Brown, J. W. Campbell, T. P. Cardwell, J. W. Davis, S. Elfort, A. Gregg, J. Hawthorn, A. H. Herrod, M. E. Ingram, O. P. Johnson, P. S. Layton, J. H. Lowry, W. L. Neale, W. A. Pepper, H. S. Powell, J. C. Sayers, E. W. Smith, H. G. Van Leggern, W. Waller, M. E. White, G. H. Whitten, Jas. Wilson, G. T. Wood, and (Guthrie, E. H. Smith.)

All honor to the twelve Senators and twenty-eight Representatives who voted against the amendment of rejection.

The whole subject goes over to the people and next Legislature.

TUESDAY, Feb. 28—P. M.

The Gold Room ranged this forenoon 202@203½@202½ ⅌ cent., being a further advance of 1@1½ ⅌ cent. on the run of Monday's sales. The speculators for the rise made the best use, possible of the absence of later news from Gen. SHERMAN's march through the Carolinas, and the various suggestions, through secesh mediums, of what may or might happen to his victorious progress. The same means, it will not be forgotten, were employed in the Room two months ago in reference to "the lion in SHERMAN's path" through Georgia, to arrest the tendency to lower rates for Gold. No real apprehension was felt by the friends of the Government, on the Street, as to the result of SHERMAN's march through South and North Carolina, and there is less appearance of concern on the subject than pending his wonderful Georgia campaign to the seaboard.

For the Boston steamer the rate of Exchange on London, Banker's Bills, for Gold, left off at 108 ⅌ cent. A moderate business was done for the present mail.

The probability is the Importers will be actively employed in March in the withdrawal of goods from Bond and the payment of Customs thereon; so as to avoid the additional duties proposed in Congress, to be levied from and after the 1st of April. A large amount of foreign merchandise is now in Bond, of the classes of articles likely to be effected by the new Bill, and other importations of the same kind are on the way on which the Customs will, of course, be paid on arrival up to the 31st of March.

The Treasury Office is already rich in its Gold balances, without the Customs Revenue in March, and it is expected that the pre-payment of the 1st May Coupons on the 5-20 Bonds of the United States, will be ordered and proceeded with before the middle of March. The amount of Gold to be thus disbursed, when called for, is $17,427,707, or 3 ⅌ cent. on $580,756,900. The Gold Customs for the month of February at this port exceed four and a half millions. The returns from the Custom House are as follows, differing but slightly from the deposits made in the Sub-Treasury:

To Feb. 4	$510,686	Feb. 25	$1,733,020
Feb. 11	871,400	Feb. 28	380,962
Feb. 18	1,081,280
Total			$4,577,548

The market for Money is, at present, very quiet at 6 ⅌ cent., as the rule among the Stock Brokers, and 7@9 ⅌ cent. for good Merchant paper. The largest employment of cash balances is in the 7-30 ⅌ cent. Popular Loan, at the rate, throughout the country, of $3,000,000@$4,000,000 ⅌ day.

There was not much change in the Gold-bearing Stocks of the United States. The market for 5-20s feels the absence of later orders from Europe. The price, however, holds steady. The 10-40s were firmer.

The Railway Stocks were somewhat irregular to-day, and the Miscellaneous list lower on Mariposa and Quicksilver, and quite erratic on Cumberland Coal, the cash sales of which were at 79@74½@77@76 ⅌ cent., and on time, seller's option, 70@72 ⅌ cent. Among the Western Roads there was a sudden decline of 3½@4 ⅌ cent. on Cleveland and Pittsburgh, and 1@1½ ⅌ cent. on Michigan Southern, while the New-York Roads were about steady as compared with Monday's sales.

At 4 o'clock the following quotations were made as compared with the same hour on Monday. The general market steady. Gold, 202 ⅌ cent.

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.—A monthly meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association was held Monday evening at their room, No. 161 Fifth-av., near Twenty-second-street. A large number of ladies and gentlemen were present, among whom were many of the old members. The choir was occupied by VINCENT COLYER, Esq., Vice-President. After some devotional exercises, led by Professor C. H. GARDNER, of the Gardner Institute, an interesting essay entitled "Diversity the Ground of Responsibility," was read by Rev. T. RALSON SMITH, in which he pointed out how the characteristics of each individual, no matter how diversified his talents or acquirements, might be rendered useful in promoting the objects of the Association; that diversities of endowment were the bases of the grandest and most effective qualities in life—every man having his place, his work, his obligation. Mr. MOSES POND, of the Boston Young Men's Christian Association, spoke at some length of the workings of the Boston Association, and its great moral and spiritual influences. Reports were read from the Committees on Visitation of the Sick, Employment, Boarding Houses, and Devotional Meetings, showing the work performed by the Association. The meeting closed with prayer and a hymn.

MEDICAL.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by DR. WARD & CO., No. 62 Franklin-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any other can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 61 Franklin-st. B.—See Dr. C.'s diplomas, in his office, as member of the New-York University Medical College, and College of Surgeons, London. Office hours, 9 A. M. to 8½ P. M.

He can cure the worst cases of secret disease in a shorter time than any other physician, or no pay taken. Skeptics and doubters will please call and read lots of reliable certificates of cures made within the last thirty years of almost hopeless cases, that had had the benefit of dozens of our most eminent physicians and surgeons. Dr. Hunter is in constant attendance from 8 in the morning till 9 at night, at his old office, No. 3 Division-st., New-York City, since 1834. Charges moderate and a cure guaranteed. Separate rooms, so that the patient sees no one but the Doctor himself. His wonderful medical discovery, DR. NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

There was a report in the city, yesterday, said to be based upon statements made in private letters, that the forces of Gen. SHERMAN had been joined by those of Gen. SCHOFIELD. There were no particulars given, and the main statement is at least doubtful. Gen. SCHOFIELD, who started from the coast for Goldsboro, N. C., or some other point on the Weldon Road, is, of course, expected to coöperate with SHERMAN, and we may look for news of his progress very soon, either through rebel papers, or directly by way of Newbern or Wilmington.

There are indications that LEE has considerably weakened his forces, within a few days, by sending men to oppose SHERMAN. Deserters say that he has sent off an entire corps, and must necessarily contract his lines if pressed, and probably abandon Petersburgh. A letter from the left wing of GRANT's army, (Hatcher's Run,) of Saturday last, states that all our troops near that point are under marching orders, a fact which points to another struggle in that neighborhood.

The schooner Dearborn, from Savanilla, reports that on the 8th instant, off Cape Antonia, she was boarded by a rebel privateer, who, after asking several questions, bore up for the island of Grand Cayman. She was bark-rigged, one smoke stack, and about 300 tons burden, painted lead color. On the 9th saw her again, coming out from Grand Cayman.

The Navy Department has information of the capture of a cotton-laden schooner in the Gulf, off Texas, and of the destruction of the large iron screw blockade-runner Will-o'-the-Wisp, while aground off Galveston, by a boat's crew from the United States steamer Princess Royal. Another blockade-runner, the steamer Acadia, is ashore off Velasco, and has been burned by the shells of the United States steamer Virginia. The schooners Pet and Ann Sophia, with 470 bales of cotton, were recently captured in Galveston Bay, by an expedition from the United States steamer Bienville.

Gov. FENTON has appointed DELAVAN G. MORGAN to be General Superintendent under the act to provide additional means for the relief of sick and wounded soldiers of this State. He has also appointed Col. VINCENT COLYER to be Superintendent of the Soldiers' Depot in this city, and Col. R. GOODRICH to be military State Agent at Washington.

A report from Frankfort says that about 6,000 mounted rebels are in the vicinity of Mount Sterling, Ky.

Col. CAMPBELL, of the Seventeenth Kentucky Cavalry, by permission of Gen. HOOKER, crossed the Ohio River a few days ago in pursuit of a number of noted horse-stealing guerrillas, and his expedition has proved highly successful. He succeeded in gathering in fifteen or twenty of the scoundrels at Saline Mines, Shawneetown, Grayville and Fairfield. They were tried by drumhead court-martial, found guilty and shot. The Federal forces in Kentucky are determined to make their work effectual.

Recruiting is reported very active in Ohio. The State will put all the regiments in the field asked by the Secretary of War.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, yesterday, the resolution to purchase a painting of Mr. POWELL for $25,000 was adopted by 23 to 17. A bill was reported to incorporate an asylum for totally disabled officers and men of the volunteer service. The corporators are the leading general officers in service, and a number of prominent editors and other civilians. The Amended Tax Bill was discussed until recess, and resumed at the evening session, when the Senate, by the casting vote of the presiding officer, agreed to the Finance Committee's proposition to tax Savings Banks the same as banks of issue.

In the House, the Six Hundred Million Loan Bill was perfected and passed very nearly as it was reported. Bills were passed to appoint a Solicitor of the Navy Department; to regulate the appointment of Admirals; increasing the pay of midshipmen to $800 a year; regulating the transfer of men from the army to the navy; to punish desertion, and in relation to prize-money. There was a long discussion on a bill to pay $190,000 as a prize-money to Capt. WINSLOW and other men of the Kearsarge for destroying the Alabama, Mr. COX being conspicuous in opposition to it. It was finally referred to a committee, with an amendment to include Lieut. CUSHING and those who aided him in destroying the rebel ram Albermarle.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate, yesterday, the bill to remove the restriction on rates of fares on the New-York Central Railroad was favorably reported. Notice was given of a bill for a railroad in Eighty-sixth and other streets, and one for the consolidation of certain Railroad Companies in Brooklyn. Bills were passed relative to Common Schools in New-York; incorporating the New-York Infant Asylum, and amending our Assessment Laws. The bill authorizing the Dry Dock and Battery Railroad Company to extend their track, was ordered to a third reading. Also the bill authorizing turnpike companies to increase their tolls by 33 per cent.

In the Assembly, the bill to enable husband and wife, or either of them, to become witnesses against each other, was ordered to a third reading; also, the bill to aid the Children's Aid Society of New-York, and the bill to charter the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum of Brooklyn.

FROM EUROPE.

We have dates to Feb. 15 by the New York, arrived here. The Duke of NORTHUMBERLAND died on the 12th. Cardinal WISEMAN is dying, all hope of his recovery having been abandoned. Nothing important in Parliament. The O'DONOGHUE has accepted the Chiltern Hundreds, and there is to be a new election in Tipperary. The Times gets a drop of Confederate comfort out of the reported cession of Sonora to France and the threatened abolition of slavery by the rebels. The pirate Shenandoah has been at work in the South Atlantic, and has destroyed several vessels. The United States steamer Iroquois was at Cape Town on the 9th ult. A decree has been issued at Turin authorizing the circulation of the Pope's Encyclical with the appendix, without admitting their propositions. News from the Continent generally is unimportant.

GENERAL NEWS.

All the ice-houses in the vicinity of Rondout, on the river and in the Rondout Creek, are filled with ice of from twelve to sixteen inches in thickness, and of the very best quality. The Knickerbocker Ice Company have in their different houses thereabouts about 81,000 tons; Washington Ice Company have about 30,000 tons; Rock Ice Company, 13,000 tons, and the Parker Company, 28,000 tons; making in the aggregate about 153,000 tons of ice now stored in the several ice-houses located within a short distance of Rondout.

The New-Jersey Legislature will try to-day to elect a Senator in place of the Hon. JOHN C. TEN EYCK, Union, whose term will expire on Saturday. As the State Senate is Democratic and the other House tied, there is not much prospect of a prompt election. The Assembly yesterday had the Constitutional Amendment under discussion, but did not vote upon it.

The steamship North Star was disabled on her last outward trip, twenty miles from Aspinwall, but reached port safely, and her passengers and mails have arrived at San Francisco. The passengers and mails from San Francisco 3d of February, would be detained at Aspinwall until the departure of the next steamer, (the Costa Rica,) which will be due here about the 8th of March.

Hon. ELI COOK, Ex-Mayor of Buffalo, died in that city on Saturday. He was a native of this State, studied awhile for the ministry, but finally fixed upon the legal profession, and became the partner of Judge DENIO, and afterward of Judge BEARDSLEY, of Utica. He was for a time a leading Democratic politician.

The contract for the transportation of Indian goods to Fort Benton, on the Missouri River, has been awarded to the owners of steamer St. Johns. The goods, Indian agents and territorial officers will leave St. Louis about the 16th of March for Fort Benton. The distance by water is 3,175 miles.

The New-Orleans Times, of the 21st, says there is a sensation rumor from Matamoras, via Brazos, that the Imperial Government of Mexico has forbidden clearances for American ports, and that our Consul has been sent out of Matamoras.

The schooner Jane Dalan, which cleared from New-Orleans on Jan. 18, was lost off the bar at Matamoras. She had a full cargo of merchandise and a number of passengers, all of whom were lost.

Vermont papers say that the Governor of that State is about to call an extra session of the Legislature to ratify the constitutional amendment.

The trial of the raiders at Montreal is further delayed by the illness of Judge SMITH.

The Live Stock markets, released from the effects of the long snow blockade upon the railroads, are again well supplied with most kinds of animals. The receipts of beef cattle this week number 6,316, and were last week 6,325, while for the previous week there were only 2,717. Prices, which were recently up to unheard-of-prices, have fallen back to the rates current at the beginning of the year, except for a few extra animals, which, owing to the scarcity of this grade, have sold this week at 24c.@25c. for the dressed weight. The general selling rates are 16c.@20c. net, the poorest at 11c.@12c. Veal calves are in fair supply, but with a brisk demand, prices are a little higher. Milch cows are in only moderate supply, but the demand is light, and prices weaker. Sheep are arriving quite freely, and sell a little down from last week's rates. Live hogs are in better supply, and prices ¼c.@½c. lower.

The Gold Room advanced 1@1½ per cent., yesterday forenoon, but fell back to 202 per cent. (the price of Monday night,) at 4 o'clock. The Stock Market was irregular on the Railway and Miscellaneous speculation. Government Stocks steady. Money easy.

Produce and Merchandise were rather more sought after yesterday. Pork advanced 25c.@50c. ℔ bbl; Oats, 1c. ℔ bushel; Whisky, 1c.@2c. ℔ gallon. The changes in other leading articles were unimportant. The freight market was extremely dull.

The Committee on Ferries held a meeting yesterday in regard to the reëstablishment of the Canal-street and Hoboken ferry. A number of citizens residing in the vicinity of Canal-street, appeared before the committee and assured them that the reëstablishment of the ferry would be a great convenience to them and the public generally. The committee will probably hold another meeting on the subject. The boats were taken off about a year ago.

An literary entertainment was given last evening at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, in aid of the blind of that city. Mayor WOOD presided. Rev. Messrs. BEECHER, BOOLE and STRYKER, delivered brief and appropriate discourses, the latter stating that of the 400 blind persons in New-York seventy are destitute and homeless; there are twenty destitute blind persons in Brooklyn, for whose aid the entertainment was specially intended.

The fifth commencement of the Homœopathic Medical College was celebrated last evening at the Atheneum, on Broadway. Diplomas were conferred on twenty-seven gentlemen of the graduating class.

The nomination of Mr. WAKEMAN for Collector of this port was favorably reported upon, yesterday, in the Senate.

FROM THE RIO GRANDE.—It is surely almost time that the telegraph should cease to be burdened with startling rumors from Matamoras, circulated in New-Orleans, and received here by way of Cairo. The latest of these rumors represents the "Imperial Government of Mexico" as having forbidden the issue of clearances to American ports. Accompanying this is a story of the dismissal of our Consul from Matamoras. The intent of these reports may not be apparent to those who are made the instruments of sending them abroad by telegraph; they are perfectly understood among reflecting citizens here. They are conceived in the interest of the rebels, and like the sensation telegrams from Paris, are meant to intimate that we are daily and hourly threatened with a rupture of our relations with France, and with forcible intervention in behalf of the rebels. We have had quite enough of this sort of thing.

News from Sherman.

The rebels still withhold from us all news about the progress of Gen. SHERMAN's army, and the only thing about SHERMAN that we feel sure of at present is that the rebels have had not even the slightest success over any part of his forces, else it would have been communicated to the Richmond press, to the rebel army and to us, very speedily. The probability is that Gen. SHERMAN is sweeping everything before him—marching on, conquering and to conquer.

It seems likely that the first news from SHERMAN will be communicated to us from Wilmington and Fortress Monroe. The armies of SHERMAN and SCHOFIELD have assuredly communicated with each other before this time; and we trust that Admiral PORTER will, with his usual promptitude, send a dispatch boat to Fortress Monroe with tidings of SHERMAN's fortunes. We expect that in this way there will be news in the course of to-day.

Our Victories Abroad.

The news of the capture of the capital of South Carolina, and of the triumphal march of SHERMAN's army through the State which originated the rebellion, opened the war, and has been one of its main supporters, went to Europe by the steamship City of London, which sailed from this port on the 18th ultimo, and was doubtless published there yesterday or this morning. The news of the capture of Charleston was taken to Europe by the Australasian on the 22d, and probably by day after to-morrow, it will be announced to an astonished continent by the journals of London and Paris. Very quickly thereafter they will hear of the capture of Wilmington, the great entrepôt for years of the European blockade-runners.

These immense events, coming so thick and so fast, will cause far greater astonishment in Europe than they have done here. Our faith in the success of our arms is so great that hardly any feat astonishes us; and hence it is that we do not always appreciate events properly and in their vast bearings. But the general belief in Europe has agreed with that of the rebels, that we could never take Charleston; that we could never take Wilmington; that a campaign through South Carolina was impossible, and that, if attempted, SHERMAN would be awfully beaten. The English and French will read the dispatches twice over, and will see clearly that now at last the Confederacy is ruined; while our good German friends will put a double value upon our bonds, in which they have been so largely and so wisely investing. These triumphs of our arms will greatly increase the public faith abroad in the triumph of our Government, and will largely increase the demand for Federal securities in Germany, while they will probably also open the eyes of shrewd British capitalists to the value and profit of these investments. The returning wave from Europe, which will reach us in about ten or twelve days, will be looked for with great interest.

Sherman's Campaign.

We are not of those who regard the evacuation of the rebel seaports, which has now been completed, as a circumstance indicating the immediate and absolute breaking up of the Confederacy.

It is deeply important, as showing that the Confederacy never can be an independent power, possessing connections with the outside world, and that, after more or less time, they must submit to the Union. Such events, also, have a profound moral effect on the spirit of the combatants on both sides; and the towns and ports regained on the seashore form excellent bases for future military movements on our part.

But their abandonment shows, also, on the part of the rebels, not perhaps that desperation which is only the forerunner of destruction, but rather that forecast and resolution which distinguished the Southern leaders in the first year of the war, and which will make their defensive campaigns unparalleled in history. There is no foolish dying in the last ditch here; no mad despair, but a comprehensive view of their only and last chance, namely, the concentration of all their outlying detachments and the drawing us into the interior.

At this stage of the war, their cities are comparatively of little importance to them, (always excepting the moral effect of their loss.) They need every armed man they can find; all garrisons must be withdrawn and every port near the sea given up; even the masses of negroes must be armed and drilled, and they must trust to a grand concentration against SHERMAN, to the difficulties of the interior, and to his long distance from his base. Their leaders see that these are their final chances, and, like the vigorous military men they have always shown themselves, they cast everything else away to make the most of these. If SHERMAN be defeated, they can afford to lose Charleston, Wilmington or even Richmond.

In fact, we expect to hear daily of the evacuation of the rebel capital, and of the transference of LEE, with the weight of his army, to Danville, or even into North Carolina. Having command of the railroads, LEE could at least attempt to move thirty thousand men to the neighborhood of Danville, or further South, and leave the remnant of his army to delay MEADE's advance over the horrible Virginia roads. In fact, we doubt whether, in such an eventuality, our army could reach further than the Roanoke for months, by a direct advance.

But here come in the remarkable and powerful combinations of the Lieutenant-General, which differ this campaign and SHERMAN's march, so much from the quoted historical parallel that ended in Yorktown.

GRANT has a heavy force on the coast of North Carolina. SHERMAN, at latest advices, was but a brief march from this great coöperative body. Some portions of this coast army are already breaking LEE's connections with BEAUREGARD. They will operate with tremendous power on his flank if he marches against SHERMAN. The greater part of GRANT's army can easily be transferred to North Carolina, and take part in the final campaign between LEE and SHERMAN. It is this coast connection which gives us such great advantage in the coming terrible struggle. It is true, SHERMAN, with a marvelous daring, has thrown himself further from his support than was expected. But he knows his own strength, and his own purposes in North Carolina. He may be aiming at a political effect, as well as military; he certainly, as the Richmond journals confess, is at the central points of their railroad system, and, if he succeeds, destroys everything. On the whole, though dangers may encompass the great Union General, we believe the issue of his wonderful march and of Gen. GRANT's great campaign will be a triumphant success.

The Panic in the South.

The Southern papers that reach us these days, though almost destitute of all news, contain many evidences of a state of feeling throughout the South made up of desperation and despair; and an intelligent Confederate officer, just escaped from the rebel army at Richmond, informs us that the advance of SHERMAN's invincible force is looked upon with uncontrollable dismay. A letter in one of our cotemporaries, containing some information on this matter, says:

> "All the reports from rebeldom, whether brought by deserters or released prisoners, concur in stating that the Confederacy, or rather that portion of it east of the Alleghanies, is the subject of an uncontrollable panic. Congress, the military, and the people, stare one another in the face, and each upbraids the other for fancied delinquencies. Gen. LEE alone commands general confidence, but it is the confidence engendered by despair, rather than that which comes of hope. All this excitement is daily increased by the wildest news from North Carolina."

This is just what might be anticipated when the situation of affairs is considered. GRANT planted before the rebel capital, with his grand army all ready to strike at the moment of necessity; SHERMAN sweeping through the Carolinas, and having doubtless effected a junction with SCHOFIELD, preparatory to his advance upon the rebel capital, while there is not a word of good news to be printed in the Richmond papers—it is enough to create a panic in the State of Virginia and among the forces of the rebels. This panic began in South Carolina a month ago, and it would not be at all astonishing if it became absolutely uncontrollable throughout the entire South before long.

REBEL DESERTERS.—It has been noticed that whenever the rebel armies have abandoned any Southern State, we have invariably had from the troops of the State, wherever they were stationed, a great tide of desertion. One cause of the depletion of HOOD's army, on its retreat from Nashville, was in the desertion of thousands of the Tennessee soldiers, who declared they would never again fight out of Tennessee; and there have been very many other illustrations of the same phenomenon in the course of the war. The latest development of the kind has occurred since SHERMAN's army passed triumphantly across the State of South Carolina. The conscripts of that State, serving with LEE, are now passing over into our lines in large numbers. Our correspondent, writing from the right wing of the Army of the Potomac, on Saturday last, says: "Another lot of fifty-three deserters, from a South Carolina regiment, who also came in on Thursday night, reported themselves as 'peace commissioners.' One of this number declared that they had gone into this war to 'put down the heresy that a negro is as good as a white man;' but as that doctrine was now apparently about to be adopted at the South, and the negroes were to be placed in the ranks there and made their equals, they wished to go North, where there were fewer of such equals to be found." Again, on the same subject, the same correspondent writes: "The number of deserters reported at army headquarters, in the last twenty-four hours, is one hundred and eleven. This makes an aggregate of over three hundred in three days, on this side of the Appomattox, and two hundred on the north side. Those received here generally hail from South Carolina and Georgia. Many of them bring their arms with them, and the cavalry, in some instances, horses and equipments."

The largest element in LEE's army, next to the Virginian, is the North Carolinian. When SHERMAN's army establishes itself in that State we expect to see clouds of its troops rushing over into GRANT's lines.

THE NEW-ENROLLMENT BILL.—The fourth section of the new enrollment bill, as it passed the House, provides that, "no person of foreign birth who has resided in the United States for three years preceding his arrival at the age of 21 years, shall be exempt from enrollment and draft on account of being an alien." We do not know whether the measure is likely to become law in this shape or not. But we think very little would be lost in the way of filling up the quotas of the different districts by leaving the clause out; and it cannot have escaped the attention of members of the House, that the clause may possibly produce complications which would quite as well be avoided.

THE DEFENCE OF CANADA—IMPORTANT OFFICIAL REPORT.—By the European mail, last evening, we have the text of an important official report on the defences of Canada, addressed to the British Secretary of War by Col. JERVOIS, of the Royal Engineers—an officer specially designated to examine and report upon the fortifications of the province. Col. JERVOIS recommends that £200,000 sterling be spent upon the defences of Quebec; £443,000 sterling upon forts at Montreal, and £600,000 sterling upon fortifications and armaments at Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton and other places in the Western Province. He likewise urges upon the War Department the necessity of not reducing the number of British troops stationed in the Provinces.

REBEL PIRACIES BY SEA AND LAND.—The Canadian authorities have repudiated the absurd doctrine propounded by JEFFERSON DAVIS, that because Confederate commissions were issued to the St. Albans raiders and the pirate BURLEIGH, their operations, though starting from a neutral territory, were bona fide operations of war, and not mere expeditions of murder and robbery.

If this view were not distinctly held, no neutral territory could avoid being drawn against its desires into a war in which any of its neighbors was engaged.

By the capture of the forts controlling the entrance to Mobile Bay the port is in our possession, although the city may not be; and with the capture of Wilmington the rebels have ceased to possess any possible base for naval operations on the high seas. No naval expedition can now by any possibility start from any Confederate ports to prey upon our commerce. Yet we have news that an iron-lad, the Olinda alias Stonewall, is afloat, and that the Ajax, the Hercules, and three other rebel privateers are preparing to start from England. It may be true that these vessels will be armed out of British jurisdiction, but the vessels carrying their arms and crews will also start from British ports. It is as if the St. Albans raiders had carried their revolvers and rifles in a wagon and armed themselves on the frontier line.

Every vessel which now bears the Confederate flag on the ocean has its bases of operation in neutral ports. From them they sail; at them they supply themselves with food and fuel; in them they rendezvous; to them they retreat in case of disaster; there they are built; there they retire for repairs.

Surely the principle is the same, although the neutral ocean intervenes; and the same rule which applies to the St. Albans raiders and BURLEIGH will be made to apply to the Stonewall, Ajax, Hercules, &c., if European Powers are, even now, disposed to be at all sincere in their professions of neutrality.

BRIBING SERVANTS AT THE WHITE HOUSE.—EMERSON ETHERIDGE, of Tennessee, publishes a card in a Washington paper, stating that a person came from Tennessee to secure the release of five rebel prisoners,—that he paid C. O'LEARY, the doorkeeper at the Executive mansion, $50 for securing the President's attention to the subject, and that he saw several other persons bribe the same doorkeeper in the same way for similar services. Mr. ETHERIDGE states that he himself went through the same performance for the purpose of testing the matter, and he closes his card thus:

> I make this matter public from motives of humanity. During the last year I have made many applications for the discharge of prisoners of war upon the terms mentioned in the above order of the President, but in no instance have I been successful. I have often written to the friends and kindred of prisoners that there was no end to their captivity but peace. I rejoice, however, to be able at last to inform those who feel an interest in the matter, that a cheap and expeditious remedy is within their power. Commissioners of Exchange may disagree, BUTLER may higgle about his niggers, but ten dollars inclosed to "C. O'LEARY, Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C.," will restore any repentant rebel to the blessings of freedom and the society of friends.
> EM. ETHERIDGE.

The Chronicle gives the sequel. It states that when this statement was shown to Mr. NICOLAY, the President's Private Secretary, the servant, O'LEARY, was called and questioned on the subject. He confessed having induced a member of Congress to present the petition to the President, whose signature was promptly given to the order for the release of the prisoners, on condition that they should take the oath;—and he also confessed to having received a present of money for his services. He was at once dismissed from his place. We hope Mr. EMERSON ETHERIDGE feels better.

POWELL'S PICTURE.—The House resolution to pay twenty-five thousand dollars for POWELL's picture of Perry's victory deserves killing in the Senate. No such price has ever been paid for any picture by any American artist; and yet as a work of art it is almost utterly without merit. DE SOTO's Discovery of the Mississippi from the same hand is a sufficient eye-sore in the rotunda without adding this as a companion-piece. Our people do not pay their heavy taxes to be squandered by their servants in any such way as this.

The Magazines for March.

—Harper's New Monthly Magazine (New-York: HARPER & BROTHERS,) opens with the conclusion of ROSS BROWN's "Tour Through Arizona." His papers are valuable, as containing the fullest account yet given by any traveler of that remote region, and the summing up of his impressions is no doubt near the truth. He regards it as "a territory wonderfully rich in minerals, but subject to greater drawbacks in the way of peaceable settled occupation than any of our territorial possessions." The new installment of WILKIE COLLINS' novel, "Armadale," preserves well the weird, mysterious atmosphere of the story. One portion—the explanation of a dream—seems written with a recollection of EDGAR A. POE's peculiar analytical faculty. DICKENS' "Our Mutual Friend," progresses also, but the writer is entangled among three or four sets of characters, very slightly connected together, if at all, by any community of interest, so that his transitions from one to the other tax the memory, and display an utter want of the constructive power needed for the easy working of a good serviceable plot. "The Siege and Capture of Port Hudson, by Admiral FARRAGUT," forms the subject of JOHN S. C. ABBOTT's "Heroic Deeds of Heroic Men." The economic article is a full and exhaustive account of "Sugar-making in Cuba," each process described being illustrated with excellent wood-cuts. Three or four stories of the usual magazine calibre, "Mr. Raspton's Resurrection," "Poor Isabel," "Maud Molyneaux's Music-Box," will gratify the lovers of fiction. "Ultramarine Views" is a lady's clever account of the disagreeables of an Atlantic trip. "Our Lessons in Statesmanship" takes a cheerful view of the results of the late Presidential election. Some of Harper's fair readers will miss the usual fashion plate, this month conspicuous from its absence, but there is enough good matter in the number to make up for the omission.

—The Atlantic Monthly (Boston: TICKNOR & FIELDS) presents us with the continuation of DONALD C. MITCHELL's new work, "Dr. Johns." There is a quiet, idyllic beauty about the style and subject, as far as the writer has yet advanced, that leads us to expect from his pen a story that may rank as an American "Vicar of Wakefield." "Ancient Mining on the Shores of Lake Superior," by ALBERT D. HAGER, is an article of great interest, especially when viewed in connection with the researches now making in Europe, in every direction, all tending to prove the antiquity of man's presence on this globe, beyond any limit of recorded historic time. Mr. HAGER is inclined to attribute the remarkable traces of metallurgic explorations evident in the Lake Superior region, to the race of mound builders, whose mighty works yet abound in the Mississippi Valley; and there is nothing improbable in the suggestion. "The Popular Lecture" is by a writer whom every one will admit to be fully competent to treat a subject he so frequently exemplifies—Dr. J. G. HOLLAND, the "Timothy Titcomb" of his books. "Edward Everett," by his nephew, E. E. HALE, affords us pleasant glimpses of an autobiographical narrative of the statesman's early career—a foretaste, we hope, of the good things in store for his biographer. Mr. S. C. HALL has had the good sense to enliven his own dullness (and he can be very dull) by relieving the present number of his "Memories of Authors" with a charming sketch narrating her intimacy with Miss LANDON, (L. E. L.,) by his clever wife. "The Story of a Year," by HENRY JAMES, Jr., introduces, we believe, a new candidate for popular favor, who makes a successful debut. GOTTSCHALK's "Notes of a Pianist" increase in interest as the writer develops the personal element. "Our Oldest Friend," by Dr. O. W. HOLMES, has the true lyric ring about it. The other poetry is not remarkable.

—Our Young Folks, an Illustrated Magazine for Boys and Girls, (Boston: TICKNOR & FIELDS,) continues true to the promise of its first number, and is already recognized as an indispensability (if there is such a word) in thousands of households where young folk do congregate. GAIL HAMILTON, ROSE TERRY, LUCY LARCOM, MRS. STOWE and MARY N. PRESCOTT represent, we presume, the girl interest or element of the magazine, while the masculine tastes of the boys are attended to with equal appropriateness, by J. T. TROWBRIDGE, CARLETON and Capt. MAYNE REID. We should despair of the intellectual calibre of the boy or girl who failed to find suitable mental nourishment in the pages of this magazine. It is well and copiously illustrated.

—The United States Service Magazine, (New-York: C. B. RICHARDSON,) opens with a spirited article by Capt. JAMES F. RUSLING. "The Victory at Nashville," elucidating the facts of what has turned out to be, in its consequences, one of the most important successes of the war. "Seeking the Bubble," by Lieut.-Col. R. B. IRWIN, is a sketch from the ludicrous side of "Army Experiences." "A Word from the Quartermaster's Department," and "Ana of the War," are continued from the previous number. "Sherman's Winter Campaign through Georgia" is a stirring and striking article, and does justice to the great military exploit of the day. "Military Espionage" discusses the difficult questions connected with the legal and ethical relations of the spy system, as illustrated in the trial and fate of Major ANDRE. We are happy to see that Lieut.-Gen. GRANT and Admiral FARRAGUT, both appear as endorsers of the United States Service Magazine. In the pithy words of the former, we fully coincide, and recommend them to the consideration of all our readers, as coming from one who speaks with authority: "Every person interested in the success of our arms, who is able, should take this Magazine and preserve it for future reference."

—The Social Science Review, a journal of political economy and statistics, (New-York,) is a new enterprise addressed to those who read for instruction rather than amusement. The prospectus rightly states that never has the knowledge and diffusion of the principles of political economy been so necessary as now, and the editors, (ALEXANDER DELMAR and SIMON STERN,) promise a thorough examination of all current questions that require to be viewed, for their proper comprehension in the light of such knowledge. The first number contains an elaborate and severe dissection of Secretary FESSENDEN's Report, criticisms on HERBERT SPENCER, and M. ALCUT's Work on Progress, and articles on "Government," and "The Limits of Political Economy."

—The Quarterly Review, January, 1865; the North British Review, November, 1864; Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, January, 1865. (New-York: LEONARD, SCOTT & Co.) Mr. SCOTT's enterprise of presenting in uniform style and at a moderate price, the four great English Quarterlies, and the stanch organ of Toryism—Blackwood's Magazine—proceeds successfully, through all changes of times and seasons. The above-named are the last of its issues that we have received. Through the increased cost of labor and of every article that enters into the composition of a book, a slight advance in the terms of subscription has become necessary—still in no other way can the same amount of good reading matter be procured for an equally low price, and we are sure the rise will create no diminution in the list of subscribers. The North British Review has several papers of great ability, including a scathing notice of Dr. LATHAM's new Johnson's Dictionary. Blackwood finishes "Tony Butler," and continues O'DOWD's lively comments on current events. The Quarterly is, as usual, stronger in literature than in politics, the last being rabidly Anti-American.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The second performance of "La Forza del Destino" was witnessed last evening by an exceedingly large and fashionable audience. It is still too soon to speak of the public acceptance of the work. Being unlike anything that VERDI has yet written, it required a new class of hearers to do it full justice. Judging, however, from the frequent and discriminatory applause last evening, this class will be forthcoming, and the verdict will, we are sure, be that "La Forza" is the most carefully written work that the composer has ever offered to the public.

The singers were all in capital voice, and the performance was admirable.

To-night "La Somnambula" will be given, with Miss KELLOGG as Amina.

CONCERT.—Mr. MAX STRAKOSCH gives his fourth concert at Niblo's Saloon, to-night—the artists being Mlle. DE KATOW, the violoncellist, Mr. WEHLI, the pianist, Miss LAURA HARRIS, the soprano singer, and others.

IRVING HALL.—Mr. HARRISON, the proprietor of this justly popular establishment, has set aside Saturday next for a grand concert, commemorative of our recent victories. The proceeds are for the benefit of the exceedingly civil attachés of the establishment. The programme already includes the names of twenty-two favorite artists, and—as we are informed—the list being still incomplete, we suppose the public will have an opportunity, in this one entertainment, of hearing nearly all the resident talent of the metropolis.

A RIVAL OF MISS DICKINSON.—Miss EMMA HARDINGE will deliver a lecture at Cooper Institute on Thursday, the 2d of March, entitled "A Voice to the American People." Previous to the Presidential campaign, Miss HARDINGE, at the solicitation of the State Central Committee of California, delivered a series of lectures in San Francisco on political subjects, speaking for twenty-eight nights in succession, to the largest audiences ever gathered together in California. The only recompense for her arduous labors was the election of Mr. LINCOLN, and a most flattering letter from the Chairman of the State Central Committee. Miss HARDINGE will doubtless attract as large audiences here as in the Golden State.

THE MONTHLY COAL SALES SUSPENDED.—There will be no auction sale of coal this month by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company, though it is expected the sales will be resumed in March or April. The Company say that the suspension is caused by the interrupted transportation.

THREE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE

Arrival of the New-York—Doings in Parliament—Depredations of the Shenandoah.

The steamship New-York, from Southampton on the 15th of February, with three days later news from Europe, arrived here yesterday.

The Duke of NORTHUMBERLAND died suddenly at Alnwick Castle on Sunday, Feb. 12.

The Indian, China, and Australian mails had arrived.

The Canada arrived at Crookhaven early on Wednesday morning, Feb. 15.

GREAT BRITAIN.

AFFAIRS IN PARLIAMENT.

In House of Lords, Monday, Feb. 13, Lord HOUGHTON moved for returns relative to the working of the Metropolitan Casual Poor Act. Earl FORTESCUE thought the act was a failure. After some discussion, Lord HOUGHTON's motion was agreed to, and the House adjourned.

In House of Commons, Monday, Feb. 13, a new writ was issued for the County of Tipperary in the room of The O'DONOGHUE, who has accepted the Chiltern Hundreds. This will enable The O'DONOGHUE to go to the poll at Tralee.

In reply to Mr. LAWSON, Sir G. GREY said he had given no directions for delaying the execution of POLIZZIONI. He had received a memorial on the subject from Italians, which was under the consideration of the judge who tried the case.

The bills in respect to Banks of Issue and the Banks of Ireland were read a first time.

Sir G. GREY moved for leave to bring in a bill to consolidate and amend the laws relating to prisons.

After much discussion leave was given to introduce the bill.

THE REPORTED CESSION OF SONORA.

The Times in a leader says:

The American war has been singularly fruitful of unexpected events, but of all the turns of fortune none has been more theatrically sudden than one that is now reported to have happened in favor of the South. At this moment the rejoicings of the North are suddenly hushed, and we are assured from New-York that President DAVIS has the game in his hands, and can secure the independence of the South either with the assent of the North or in despite of it, according to his pleasure. The clue of this startling mystery is to be found in the statement firmly credited in America, that the Emperor of Mexico has conveyed in trust of NAPOLEON III. the northern portions of the Mexican territory, to be held and administered by a French Viceroy, in liquidation of the claims of France upon the Mexican Government. This cession, it is assumed in the North, could not possibly occur without the recognition of the Southern Confederacy by France, and that recognition, it is further assumed, would at once be followed by England and the other great Powers of Europe.

The presumptions current on this subject are strengthened by the anticipations entertained of an emancipation policy on the part of the Confederate Government. The surprise felt in this country at so marvelous a change of prospect, will be increased in no small degree by general incredulity.

DEPREDATIONS OF THE SHENANDOAH.

The Cape mail has brought the following intelligence. The United States steamer Iroquois, eight guns, arrived in Table Bay on Jan. 9, with a portion of the crews of the schooner Lizzie M. Stacy and of the bark Edward, both of which vessels were burnt at sea by the Shenandoah, the men on board afterward being landed at Tristan d'Acunha, from whence they were taken by the Iroquois.

In addition to the above, the following is a list of the ships burnt by the Shenandoah: Alena, bark, from Cardiff, bound to South America with coals; Susan, brig, from England to South America with coals; D. Godfrey, barque, from Boston to Valparaiso; Charter Oak, schooner, from Boston to San Francisco.

Adelaide, bark, with Argentine flag at her peak, was boarded. It appears that the Captain of the Shenandoah demanded her bill of sale and transfer to the Argentine Republic, which the Captain could not produce. She was then ordered to be destroyed. After they had broke the cabin and poured tar and turpentine over the floor, the Captain of the Adelaide spoke a few words to the privateer Captain, upon which he immediately ordered them to repair what damage they had done, and release the vessel. It is said that she belonged to a friend of the Confederates.

THE HEALTH OF CARDINAL WISEMAN.

The Daily News says: "The Cardinal was considered to be in a sinking condition on Monday afternoon. The medical attendants entertain no hope of his recovery."

FRANCE.

The interest on Treasury bonds has been fixed at 3½ per cent. for three to five months' bonds; 4 per cent. for bonds of six to eleven months, and 4½ per cent. for bonds for twelve months.

The Papal Nuncio, Monseigneur CHIGI, had an audience with the Foreign Minister on the 13th.

The Times Paris correspondent says:

Of all the branches of French industry, the iron trade would suffer most by the commercial treaty with England.

Accounts from Rouen state, that notwithstanding the reports circulated in that town of an approaching arrangement between the Federal and Confederate States of America, the market was well attended by buyers last week, and there was a fair demand for printed cottons.

The cold weather produced a slight improvement in the Paris Corn market. Choice samples of Wheat are quoted at 21f. 25c. the hectolitre.

The Paris Bourse was heavy on Monday, and Rentes closed at 67f. 15c.

ITALY.

A telegram from Turin, of Feb. 13, says: A royal decree has been issued, authorizing the circulation of the Encyclical, its accompanying syllabus, and Cardinal ANTONELLI's circular, reserving the rights of the State and Crown, and without admitting the propositions contained in those documents, which may be contrary to the institutions and legislation of the country.

AUSTRIA.

HERR VON SCHMERLING declared at a private meeting of the members of the Lower House of the Reichsrath, that the Government agreed with the principal points expressed in the address to the Throne. He regretted that there was a divergence of opinion between the Government and the House in reference to Hungary and Gallicia. The Diets of Hungary and Croatia will, however, meet simultaneously with the lesser Reichsrath which is positively to be convoked immediately after the close of the session of the Reichsrath. Energetic efforts will be made by the Government to bring the question of the Duchies to a satisfactory solution. The Government will submit separate financial bills for the Budgets of 1865 and 1866.

The draught of the new custom's tariff will be submitted to the Reichsrath in March. It has been decided to form an International Commission of Inquiry, composed of several English and Austrian representatives, in order to investigate the present state of the trade between Austria and England, with a view of extending commercial relations by mutual reductions of the tariff.

PRUSSIA.

In the sitting of the Chamber of Deputies at Berlin, on Feb. 11, Herr GRABOW said that he had accepted the civic crown presented to him by the inhabitants of Cologne, not in his own name, but in that of the Liberal majority of the Chamber, and he would preserve it as a symbol of right and liberty.

The Government laid before the Chamber a proposition to increase the capital of the Bank of Prussia, and to establish branches in other German States.

The Finance Minister introduced a bill proposing the abolition of the duty on Prussian wines.

The Military Bill was referred to a special committee of twenty-one members.

A telegram from Berlin of Feb. 12 says: "Count KAROLYI has been informed by the Prussian Government that the Ministers of War and Marine have already begun to draw up the reports which they have been instructed to supply to the Government, with reference to the future relations between the Duchies and Prussia."

The Government Commissioner has stated before the Committee on the Budget that the Government had taken from the Public Treasury 5,000,000 thalers for payment of war expenses, and 5,000,000 for carrying out the land tax regulations—the latter amount being considered as an advance made to the Government.

Herr VON HOVERBECK moved that the committee should declare that the Ministry were not justified in appropriating 10,000,000 from the Public Treasury in addition to the Budget for 1864, without authority from the Chamber, and that they should be held personally responsible for this act.

The committee postponed its resolution upon this motion until after the discussion of the general report upon the Budget.

A dispatch from Berlin says:

"Baron VON HOCK, in compliance with instructions from the Austrian Government, has presented an ultimatum to the Berlin Cabinet in reference to the treaty of commerce to be concluded between Austria and the Zollverein."

RUSSIA.

The Deutsche Peterburger Gazette denies the rumor that France and Russia give moral support to the German minor States in their resistance to Prussia, and says: The interests of Russia in Germany are entirely opposite to those of France. Germany is to France a menace; to Russia, she is a bulwark. For Russia the unity of Germany is an advantage, and the disunion of Germany a danger.

An Imperial rescript has been sent to the nobility of Moscow in reply to the address from that body to the Emperor.

A telegram from St. Petersburgh of Feb. 11, says: The following is the substance of a rescript by the Emperor to the Minister of the Interior: "The Senate does not recognize any legal force in the acts of the Assembly at Moscow, and I also am aware that the Assembly has touched upon questions which belong to the Imperial initiative. The accomplished reforms respond to the requirements of the future, and such a deviation on the part of the assembly from the sphere of its legitimate powers impedes the realization of new projects. I hope to meet with no further obstacles arising from the action of the nobility, whose services I fully appreciate, and for whom I entertain an unshaken confidence."

SPAIN.

A telegram from Madrid of Feb 13, says. "Yesterday Señor BARZANALLANA announced to the committee on the bill for the anticipation of the taxes, that he was willing to make the following modifications in the proposed scheme:

Those persons paying taxes to the amount of more than 60 reals, and all officials whose annual salaries exceed 8,000 reals, will be compelled to pay the taxes in advance. Those doing so voluntarily will be allowed interest at the rate of 8 per cent.

THIRTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

SECOND SESSION.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Feb. 28.

HIGH ART IN THE SENATE.

Mr. COLLAMER, of Vermont, (Union,) moved to take up the resolution to contract with W. H. POWELL for a picture for the National Capitol to cost $25,000, which was carried.

Mr. SUMNER's proviso that the painting should not represent a victory over our own fellow-citizens, was not adopted.

Mr. SUMNER offered a proviso that no contract shall be made until after a competition among the artists of the country, all of whom shall have an opportunity of offering themselves as candidates, and of exhibiting designs for the proposed picture, and the committee shall postpone any contract with Mr. POWELL until they shall be satisfied, after such competition, that he is the most meritorious. This was rejected—yeas 14, nays 24, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Anthony, Chandler, Dixon, Farwell, Hale, Harlan, Lane, of Kansas, Morgan, Pomeroy, Sumner, Ten Eyck, Trumbull, Wilson.

NAYS—Messrs. Buckalew, Carlile, Collamer, Conness, Cowan, Davis, Foot, Grimes, Henderson, Hendricks, Howe, Johnson, Lane, of Indiana, McDougall, Powell, Riddle, Saulsbury, Sherman, Sprague, Stewart, Van Winkle, Wade, Wilkinson, Willey.

Mr. HOWE, of Wisconsin, (Union,) moved to lay the resolution on the table, which was negatived. Yeas, 18; nays, 19.

Mr. SUMNER moved to amend so as to provide for the purchase of CARPENTER's picture of the "Emancipation Proclamation before the Cabinet," instead of authorizing a contract with Mr. POWELL for a naval picture.

On this question, the yeas were 2, Messrs. SUMNER and POMEROY, and the nays 34.

Mr. SAULSBURY, of Delaware, (Dem.,) at 1 o'clock, moved that the Senate adjourn, which was negatived.

The resolution was then put upon its passage, and passed by a vote of 23 yeas against 17 nays.

EARLIER MEETING.

On motion of Mr. SHERMAN it was ordered that during the remainder of the session the Senate meet at 11 o'clock.

ASYLUM FOR DISABLED VOLUNTEERS.

Mr. WILSON, of Massachusetts, (Union,) from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill to incorporate a national asylum for the relief of totally disabled officers and men of the volunteer forces. Among the incorporators are the names of Gens. Grant, Sherman, Meade, Banks, Hooker, Curtis, Butler, Burnside, Logan, Oglesby, Schurz, Howard, Sigel, Rousseau, Halleck and others, and those of Admiral Farragut, Andrew Johnson, Salmon P. Chase, Edwin M. Stanton, Gideon Welles, George Bancroft, John A. Andrew, Andrew G. Curtin, Oliver P. Morton, John Brough, Henry Ward Beecher, Horace Greeley, Henry J. Raymond, James Gordon Bennett, William E. Dodge, Gerritt Smith and others—one hundred in all. The bill authorizes the appointment of a board of trustees, who are empowered to fix a site for the asylum when the sum of $1,000,000 shall have been accumulated. Provision is made for such fund from the stoppage of pay of officers or men, fines for desertion, and pay of soldiers who have died without heirs, and also from individual donations.

PAYMENT OF COLORED TROOPS.

Mr. WILSON also reported from the same committee a bill for the payment of the Colored Volunteers recruited in South Carolina, and raised under the direction of Gens. HUNTER and SAXTON, in pursuance of authority from the Secretary of War, under date of Aug. 25, 1862, in which it was promised that the persons so received into service and their officers should be entitled to and receive the same pay and rations as are allowed by law to volunteers in the service. The Secretary of War is required to see that such troops are paid according to promise.

THE AMENDED TAX BILL.

The Amendatory Tax Bill was taken up at 1:30 o'clock, and the reading of it was resumed from yesterday. The amendments of the Finance Committee were acted upon as they were reached.

RECESS.

At 4:30 the Senate took a recess until 7 P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

HE MAY ACCEPT A SWORD.

Mr. SUMNER introduced a joint resolution from the Committee on Foreign Relations, authorizing Capt. HENRY STELLWEGEN, of the United States Navy, to accept a sword of honor from the British Government for relief afforded the officers and crew of a British vessel in distress. This was passed.

THE FREEDMEN'S BUREAU.

Mr. WILSON, from the Committee of Conference on the Freedmen's Bureau Bill, made a report, which was ordered to be printed.

THE TAX BILL—SAULSBURY.

The consideration of the tax bill was resumed. The pending question was on the amendment of the Finance Committee to the House bill, to amend the section of the bill of last winter, relating to banks and banking, by making savings banks subject to taxation the same as banks of issue.

Some discussion arose on this subject.

Mr. SAULSBURY was addressing the Senate when Mr. SHERMAN rose to a point of order.

The Chair—Does the Senator from Ohio make the point that the Senator from Delaware is not in a condition to proceed?

Mr. SHERMAN—No. I make the point that he has violated the rules of debate by the use of improper language to his colleagues.

Mr. SHERMAN did not state what the improper language was. It was some remarks applied sotto voce by Mr. SAULSBURY to a few Senators who were asking him to take his seat.

Mr. SAULSBURY—I only told some Senators, who were telling me to take my seat, to let me alone.

Mr. SHERMAN—I insist on the enforcement of the rules of debate.

The Chair decided Mr. SHERMAN's point well taken, and Mr. SAULSBURY resumed his seat.

The question on the adoption of the Finance Committee's amendment was then put.

Mr. SHERMAN—Before the vote is taken I desire to explain that all Senators who are in favor of taxing savings banks will vote yea; those who are opposed to it will vote no.

The vote stood as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Brown, Carlile, Conness, Cowan, Davis, Doolittle, Grimes, Harlan, Harris, Henderson, Hendricks, Howard, Lane of Indiana, Morgan, Nesmith, Pomeroy, Powell, Sherman, Steward, Trumbull—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Anthony, Clark, Collamer, Dixon, Farwell, Foot, Foster, Hale, Howe, Johnson, Lane of Kansas, McDougall, Morrill, Nye, Sprague, Sumner, Van Winkle, Willey, Wilson, Wright—20.

The Chair voted in the affirmative, and the amendment of the Finance Committee was adopted.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Feb. 28.

THE LOAN BILL ADOPTED.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Six Hundred Million Loan Bill.

An amendment, offered by Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, (Union,) was adopted to make the issues under the act, coupon or registered bonds exclusively.

Mr. HOLMAN, of Indiana, (Dem.,) moved that all bonds or other obligations shall be subject to State or municipal taxation.

This was rejected.

Mr. FERNANDO WOOD, of New-York, (Dem.,) offered an amendment, which was rejected, the object of which he explained to be to withdraw the national bank currency and supply its place with treasury notes not legal tender.

Mr. WILSON offered a proviso that the rate of interest on all bonds shall be seven and three-tenths per centum, payable semi-annually in lawful money of the United States.

Mr. MORRILL, of Vermont, (Union,) opposed the amendment, and adhered to the provision of the bill, as originally reported, namely: That the interest shall be six per centum, when payable in coin, and seven three-tenths per centum, when payable in currency.

Mr. BROOKS, of New-York, (Dem.,) said we had reached the extreme point of paying in coin, and if we go a step further the taxes will have to be made payable in coin in order to pay the interest on the public debt, and this would be the initiation of repudiation.

Mr. INGERSOLL, of Illinois, (Union,) said the West will make every sacrifice to maintain the credit and character of the country. He hoped he had heard for the last time remarks about repudiation.

Mr. PRUYN, of New-York, (Dem.,) and Mr. BOUTWELL, of Massachusetts, (Union,) opposed the paying of the interest in currency.

Mr. BOUTWELL said he was prepared to vote that all interest shall be made payable in coin. If we authorize a forty years' loan, principal and interest, payable in coin, the rate of interest at four per centum, we can obtain a hundred millions in European markets.

Mr. WILSON's amendment was rejected.

Mr. COX, of Ohio, (Dem.,) said: When the Tariff Bill comes up I will move that all customs be paid in currency and not in specie. This would save one hundred and fifty per cent. of the bounty paid by Western industry for the benefit of Eastern capitalists.

After further debate the committee rose and reported the bill with sundry amendments.

Mr. STEVENS, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) said he had hoped that a new system would be adopted in order that the prices of all supplies might be reduced. He was shocked to hear the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. BOUTWELL) assert that he was in favor of paying the principal and interest in coin. Mr. STEVENS said Mr. BUCHANAN went out of power leaving a debt of one hundred millions, contracted in a time of profound peace. President LINCOLN not only found an empty treasury, but a civil war on his hands. He (STEVENS) then reviewed the financial condition of the country, expressing his belief that at the end of the war the public debt will be four thousand millions, requiring two hundred and forty millions in gold as interest, to be purchased by the Government as heretofore, perhaps, as at high a figure as two dollars and seventy cents in currency for one dollar in coin. Under such circumstances we would be driven to the necessity of suspending in part the payment of interest in coin, a measure which should not for a moment be contemplated. We should wisely, therefore, take steps to avert such a calamity.

The House then voted on concurring in the substitute for the first section of the bill offered by Mr. WILSON, namely: Confining the issues under the loan to coupon or registered bonds, the interest when payable in coin not to exceed six per centum, and when in currency seven and three-tenths per centum per annum.

The substitute was rejected by a vote of 48 against 97.

The other amendments were then voted on, when the question was stated on agreeing to Mr. STEVENS' substitute for the bill, which was rejected, by 33 against 71.

The bill was then passed with amendments not materially changing its provisions, and leaving the amount of the loan and the rates of interest unaffected.

The vote on the passage of bill was, yeas, 78; nays, 35.

THE TARIFF BILL.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Amendatory Tariff Bill.

Mr. BROOKS moved to strike out the proposed duty of five cents a pound on cotton, which was rejected.

The following amendments were then made:

On crude petroleum twenty, and on crude oil a duty of fifteen cents a gallon.

On quicksilver, a duty of fifteen per centum ad valorem.

Mr. COX moved to strike out the additional duty on railroad iron. He said it was a tax on the railroads, which has to be paid by the passengers. He wished to invite the largest competition of all the world. Instead of protection, the present duty amounted to a robbery of one part of the people for the benefit of the other.

Mr. GRINNELL, of Iowa, (Union,) opposed the striking out. He said the god of nature has settled the question that we can make our own iron. If we encourage its manufacture and create rivalry, we can procure our iron cheaper. There is no occasion to go abroad for supplies, when we can obtain them at home.

Mr. KASSON, of Iowa, (Union,) gave his reasons for differing from his colleagues of the Committee on Ways and Means upon this subject. Every prosperity of the West depended upon the railroad system, and hence he could not see it prostrated by additional taxation on iron.

RECESS.

The House then, 4½ o'clock, took a recess until 7 o'clock this evening.

EVENING SESSION.

TARIFF BILL.

Mr. MORRILL made an unsuccessful motion to continue the consideration of the bill amendatory of the act imposing duties on exports.

NAVAL BILLS ADOPTED.

The House passed the following bills reported from the Naval Committee, the Chairman, Mr. RICE, of Massachusetts, (Union,) explaining some of their provisions:

Providing for the appointment of a Solicitor of the Navy Department at a salary of $3,500 per annum.

Regulating the appointment of Admiral in the navy.

Increasing the pay of midshipmen to $800 a year for sea-service, and regulating the transfer of men from the army to the navy, and punishing for desertion, and also additional legislation in relation to prize money.

Mr. RICE reported a bill authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to pay Commander WINSLOW and his officers and crew $190,000, the estimated value of the pirate Alabama destroyed by the Kearsarge, to be distributed among the officers and men in the same manner as prize money.

Mr. COX, of Ohio, (Dem.,) said he was opposed to the bill on principle. [Laughter.] The reason why gentlemen laughed was, they did not understand the subject, and because they had no principle. When men entered the naval service it was to perform their duty without extra pay.

Mr. KELLY, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) inquired whether the gentleman would prevent the sinking of another British pirate.

Mr. COX replied that that was a ridiculous question. The mind of the gentleman was floating all around the house, or else he would never have asked that question.

Mr. KELLEY wished to know whether the gentlemen was willing to give any substantial recognition to the officers and men of the Kearsarge.

Mr. COX replied they had already passed an act in order that Capt. WINSLOW might be promoted.

Mr. RICE, (of Mass.) said that was true. But this bill provided for the crew who fought the guns and sunk the ship; and proposed to give them the same as if they had brought the vessel into port. He was willing to submit the bill to the House on its merits.

Mr. SPALDING appealed to his colleague (Mr. COX) to say whether he would erase that brilliant action, even for half a million of dollars.

The House refused to order the main question.

The bill was then referred to the Committee of the whole on the state of the Union, with an amendment offered by Mr. DAVIS, (Md.,) to pay Lieut. CUSHING and those under him for the destruction of the Albemarle. He said that this act was infinitely more brilliant than the destruction of the Alabama.

For Havre.

The French mail-steamer Lafayette will leave Pier No. 50, North River, for Havre, to-day (Wednesday) at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

ALBANY, Tuesday, Feb. 28, 1865.

The Central Railroad, the Fire Department Bills, the Health Bill and other bills of local interest, bring a crowd to the capitol to-day. The hearings before the committees this week, will be numerously attended.

This morning, in the Senate, a majority of the Railroad Committee brought in their report favoring the removal of the restriction of fare on the Central Railroad. This committee is composed of Senators ANGEL, WILLIAMS, BEACH, HOBBS, and WOODRUFF. Of these, Senator HOBBS alone dissented from the report.

The question of withdrawing the appropriation of the Agricultural College fund to the People's College, and giving the fund to a collegiate institution to be established at Ithica, was brought before the Senate this morning, and some light was thrown upon the probable disposition that will be made of the fund. The friends of the institution to be established at Ithica, had their bill prepared several weeks ago, and it has been under consideration by the Senate Committee on Literature, of which Senator WHITE is Chairman. The bill was favorably reported by the committee, which was, perhaps, hardly anticipated by the Senate or by the friends of the People's College. Senator WILLIAMS moved to recommit the bill, that the friends of the People's College might have a hearing. Upon this Senator WHITE made statements showing that full opportunity had been given for those interested in the People's College to express their views, but that they had declined to do so. He was compelled to adopt the conclusion that procrastination had been made use of, with a view to defeat the bill before the Senate, by delay. In this view Senator MURPHY, also a member of the committee coincided. It was finally agreed, as a compromise, that the bill should take its place in the order of business before the Senate, and at the same time, if parties shall appear who desire to be heard, the committee have the bill before them, and will give parties a full hearing. Senator EZRA CORNELL, a gentleman of wealth and influence, proposes to endow the new institution to the extent of half a million of dollars. Senators in the discharge of their duties as members of a committee, have become convinced that the People's College is not doing that which is required by act of Congress, and that the proposed institution at Ithaca will do all that is required and more on honor to the State.

The time has been taken up in both Houses to-day in the discussion in Committee of the Whole of various bills, mostly of a local character. Among these the Albany and Susquehanna Railroad Bill, which extends the time for the completion of the road, was made prominent, by the effort to fix the location of a depot at Schoharie in passing the bill. The effort failed, but a good deal of time was taken up by it without advantage to anybody. The Assembly also discussed an important bill "to enable husband and wife, or either of them, to be witnesses for or against each other or on behalf of any party, in certain cases." The bill materially modifies existing laws in regard to evidence, and is therefore of wide application. It has already passed the Senate, and was ordered to a third reading in the House to-day.

Perry's Moth and Freckle Lotion.

Chloasma, or Mothpatch, (also called Liverspot,) and Lentigo or Freckles, are often very annoying, particularly to ladies of light complexion, for the discolored spots show more plainly on the face of a blonde than of a brunette; but they greatly mar the beauty of either; and any preparation that will effectually remove them WITHOUT INJURING THE TEXTURE OR COLOR OF THE SKIN, is certainly a desideratum. Dr. B. C. PERRY, who has made diseases of the skin a specialty, has discovered a remedy for these discolorations, which is at once prompt, infallible and harmless.

This article can be taken by the most delicate invalid, without creating the disgusting nausea which is such a prominent objection to the Cod Liver Oil when taken without Lime. RESOLUTIONS OF THE CLIOSOPHIC SOCIETY of the College of New Jersey on the death of the Hon. WILLIAM L. DAYTON, late Minister to France.

The Cliosophic Society is called by the Providence of God to mourn with special sorrow the death of the Hon. WM. L. DAYTON, Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States, near the Government of France. He had his earliest associations for culture and friendship in this Hall, which he adorned in his youth by his talents and virtues: and honored through a long illustrious life with partial care and kind regard. Be it therefore Resolved, 1. That we record with gratitude and pride our admiration of this fellow member, as a man of true greatness—that of unblemished honor and integrity as well as eminent success in every station he was called to occupy.

2. That, alike, at the bar, on the bench, in the Senate, and the most intricate and critical diplomacy, that ever managed the interests of this Republic in the Courts of Europe, he was a model of wisdom, energy, uprightness, and urbane accomplishments.

3. That we sympathize with an afflicted country at large in the privation of so much ability and patriotism, at a post of such importance, in view of the exigencies which are still upon the nation.

4. That we condole with his own immediate family in their sad bereavement, and irreparable loss, tendering the assurance of our fellow feeling and faithful friendship to near relatives of another generation, who have followed him already, in leaving a cherished memorial on the annals of this brotherhood.

5. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, and that they be published in the NEW-YORK TIMES and Newark Advertiser.

The property of this company has been selected by practical judges of oil interests, and includes territory which is considered the very best in the whole oil region, embracing selections on Cherry Run, Pit-hole and Oil Creeks, and Alleghany River.

The producing interests are now yielding over one hundred and eighty barrels per day, principally from new wells, and this alone is sufficient to pay two per cent. per month on the entire capital, and with the developments to be made with the unusually large working capital, promises increased dividends at an early day.

FEE SIMPLE INTERESTS.

1.
159 acres D. Gaines Farm, on Horse Creek, laying nearly a mile on either side of the creek—an excellent piece of oil territory.

2.

6.
5 acres McClure Farm, on Cherry Run, lying one half mile above Plumer, which is very promising for oil purposes.

7.
250 acres Tidioute Creek, running one mile on the creek—100 acres fine boring land.

PROPERTY IN VENANGO COUNTY, PA.,

Consisting of two hundred and thirty-eight acres of the best oil territory lying on Pithole Creek, Cherry Run, Maguire Run and Dun Run, near tide-out, in fee simple, and interests in the "Lady Washington," "Amazon," and "Colby" wells, and in a number of wells being put down.

Wells will be immediately sunk on the property held in fee simple by this company, and with the large working capital of $75,000 great results are anticipated.

The developed interests, as will be seen above in the "Lady Washington," the "Amazon" and the "Colby" wells, are already sufficient to enable the company to pay monthly dividends.

The company has been formed not as a matter of speculation, but to develop a property which, it is believed will prove to be of great value. The reputation of the gentlemen composing the Board of Trustees is a sufficient guarantee that this object will be rapidly and faithfully carried out, and thus the stock will prove a most desirable and profitable investment.

LANDS OWNED IN FEE—AN EXTRAORDINARY ADVANTAGE.

The Second National Petroleum Company differs from most organizations of a similar character in one important respect—IT OWNS NEARLY ALL ITS LANDS IN FEE. It is thus enabled to execute leases—for which numerous applications have already been made—for the right of sinking wells on the usual terms of one-half the oil, at no expense to the company. Some of the largest incomes on Oil Creek and Cherry Run are those accruing to the proprietors of lands from this description of leases. The company will also sink wells on select portions of its properties, and will, of course, in those cases, enjoy all the benefits resulting therefrom.

A PERFECT SECURITY FOR INVESTMENT.

So rapid and steady is the increase in the value of Cherry Run, Pit Hole Creek and Hickory Creek properties, that they will soon be worth, without a doubt, even double the amount of capital stock.

It will thus be seen that every stockholder, being an owner in fee, HAS A PERFECT SECURITY FOR HIS INVESTMENT.

EXTENT AND CHARACTER OF THE COMPANY'S PROPERTIES.

The quantity of rich oil lands, owned in fee by the Second National Petroleum Company, carefully selected from the most celebrated districts of the Pennsylvania oil region, is believed to be the largest ever put into a single corporation.

It amounts to no less than FOUR HUNDRED AND FIFTY-TWO ACRES ON OIL CREEK, CHERRY RUN, PITHOLE CREEK AND HICKORY CREEK.

On some of the lands oil is now produced; on others wells are rapidly going down; and all are known to abound in the oleaginous treasure.

There is sufficient land in the following catalogue to stock a number of powerful dividend-paying companies. It was thought, however, to be more desirable to concentrate all the property in one concern of a moderate capital, than to spread it over a dozen or more companies in the usual way.

FARM NO. 1, ON CHERRY RUN.

The Duncan and Prather or McCalmert farm, of one hundred and fifty-seven acres on Cherry Run, adjoining Plumer, owned in fee. No better site for oil operations on Cherry Run. Room for 500 wells.

FARM NO. 2, ON CHERRY RUN.

The Turner Farm, of one hundred acres in fee, has all the advantage of position belonging to Farm No. 1. It is on Cherry Run, contiguous to Plumer, and surrounded by wells either now yielding or being bored. Room for 300 wells.

FARM NO. 3, ON PITHOLE CREEK.

The Second National Petroleum Company, desiring to include all the best known localities in its sphere of operations, has purchased a farm of sixty acres on Pithole Creek, adjoining the new Holmdem Well of 300 bbls. No doubt is entertained, judging from the location and surroundings, that the newly developed oil deposits extend beneath this property. Room for 250 wells.

FARM NO. 4, ON PITHOLE CREEK.

The Minor Tyrrell Farm, of 60 acres in fee, on the west branch of Pithole Creek, within about 80 rods of Howarth's Fork. Room for 200 barrels

FARM NO. 5, ON HICKORY CREEK.

About seventy-five acres in fee, on an affluent of the Alleghany River, which is fast acquiring a reputation second only to Cherry Run. Oil will undoubtedly be found on this farm in largely paying quantities. Room for 300 wells.

FARM NO. 6, OIL CREEK, OPPOSITE THE NOBLE WELL.

A landed interest in twenty acres of the best part of the Foster Farm on Oil Creek, the site of the great Sherman well, which flowed 1,000 barrels a day, and directly opposite and near to the greater Noble well of 1,800 barrels. A number of wells are now going down.

FARM NO. 7—CHERRY RUN.

A very valuable part of the company's possessions is a landed or free interest in a portion of the celebrated McFate Farm on Cherry Run. It is within a few rods of the Prince Auburn and Reed Wells; and on the land adjacent is a 200 barrel well, lately struck. One well is now going down on this property, and there is every promise of an ample yield of oil.

FARM NO. 9—DUNKARD CREEK.

The company has leased about eight hundred acres on the famous Dunkard Creek, near the boundary line between Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and exactly in the track of the great oil deposit of the continent. The company is entitled to seven-eighths of the product. The best indications of oil have been found upon the tract. In its vicinity are several wells yielding liberally. Room for 1,600 wells.

Work will be commenced upon this property, as upon all the others of the company, promptly.

STOCK RESERVED FOR WORKING CAPITAL. POSITIVELY NO LIABILITIES.

A limited amount of stock has been reserved for working capital at the subscription price of $7 50 a share—par value $15—the same being fully paid up stock, free from all future assessments.

The property of the Company consists of about twelve hundred acres of selected oil territory in Washington County, Ohio, distributed into fifteen tracts, all within a radius of ten miles of the City of Marietta. Three tracts, of two hundred and three acres, are located on Long Run; four tracts, of four hundred acres, on the Little Muskingum; and the other tracts are distributed upon Eight Mile Creek, Fifteen Mile Creek, Morse Run, and the west fork of Morse River, on Paw-Paw Creek, and on Whipple Run.

This property is represented by experts to be of the most promising character, oil indications abounding, especially on Long Run, where wells of other companies are now producing large supplies of heavy lubricating oil. Twelve wells are in process of boring, and machinery, tools, engines and everything necessary for the rapid development of the property are being procured.

The entire purchase-money having been paid, the company is now in full possession of the property.

A limited number only of the 100,000 reserved shares may be obtained at the subscription price of $1, being full paid stock without further assessment, at the office of

The property, embracing upward of 635 acres in different locations, has been selected with great care during the last three years by those of the directors who have been constantly operating on Oil Creek, and throughout the entire oil region of Pennsylvania, as well as Western Virginia, and was not selected to sell, but for the purpose of development and producing oil, having now some ten wells under contract, and being bored with vigor, beside those already completed and producing, making in all thirteen wells already on the property.

Every acre of the company's property is bottom and the best of boring land, much of it on Oil Creek, Cherry Run, Cherry Tree Run, Alleghany River, opposite Horse Creek, Sugar Creek, Elk Creek, and other streams where the lands are being rapidly developed with the most encouraging prospects.

The trustees feel confident they will be able to declare and continue handsome dividends shortly after the books close.

FEE SIMPLE.

Forty (40) acres of the Graham Farm, Pit-hole Creek, one mile from the great Frazer Well, (flowing 200 bbls. per day) and in direct line between it and the great Oil Creek Wells, Coquette, Jersey and Maple Shade,—30 acres of fine boring land. This is considered one of the finest locations on this favorite Creek.

Twenty (20) acres of the Bromley Farm, Pit-hole Creek,—all selected boring land, lying near where the celebrated Cherry Run and Pit-hole Creeks nearly touch each other. These two farms will be fully developed at once.

One hundred (100) acres on Tidioute Creek, in a fine location, 40 acres of fine boring land, lying 130 rods on the Creek. This locality is fast coming into favor with oil men. It is very near the Economite Wells, which have been pumping for a long time.

LEASEHOLD INTERESTS.

One eighth (⅛) working interest in 138 acres on Pit-hole Creek, making nearly a mile on the creek, being the selection of boring lands from the five farms, Keech, Vose, Turner, Fleming and Lake. Three wells are now being put down on this property, and others will be commenced as soon as engines can be placed on the ground.

Five (5) leases, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, on the Keister Farm, on Cherry Run. Wells will be sunk on this valuable property at once. Wells bored upon this run have seldom, if ever, failed in producing oil.

Three (3) leases, Nos. 7, 8, 9, on Pit-hole Run (Heydrick farm.) These leases are very near large producing wells, and are looked upon by experts as very fine property.

Two (2) leases, Nos. 12 and 15, Henry Bend, near the Heydrick well, now pumping 60 barrels per day.

PRODUCING INTERESTS.

One-sixteenth (1-16) working interest in the celebrated Coquette well, the largest flowing well in the country, producing 650 barrels per day. It is unnecessary to describe this very valuable piece of property, as every one having any interest in oil knows its worth. It has no rival in even this rich locality.

The interests of this company embrace the following described properties, situated in Western Virginia and on Oil Creek, Venango County, Pa.:

No. 1. Two hundred and five acres fee simple on Bull Creek, Western Virginia, in the best oil territory in that district. This tract has an entire front of over one mile of boring territory on Bull Creek and its tributaries, giving ample boring territory for over one hundred wells, and is within three miles of the Ohio River, affording the best facilities for the transportation of oil.

No. 2. Lease of one and a half acres on Horse Neck, Western Virginia. Two wells, each yielding thirty barrels per day, giving to the company two-thirds of the oil, or forty barrels per day. One well now down 240 feet, promising equally satisfactory returns. Also, vats of 1,200 barrels capacity, office buildings, &c.

No. 3. Lease (twenty years) of two acres on Horse Neck, Western Virginia, joining the last-named property. One-eighth of the working interest. One new well, now producing sixteen barrels per day, and increasing, giving to this interest now two barrels daily. One well now down and ready for tubing.

No. 4. Consists of a royalty for ninety-nine years of all the oil produced on lease, known as the Collins Lease, of two acres, on the Blood Farm, Oil Creek, Venango County, Penn. Five wells now down on this property, producing one hundred barrels per day, giving to this interest about eight barrels daily, free of cost. Now preparing to put down two more wells. This property is in the best oil-producing territory on Oil Creek.

No. 5. Fifteen acres in fee simple, on Alleghany River and Horse Creek, Venango County, Penn., giving a river front on the Alleghany of about twenty rods, and about the same on the Horse Creek. Within twenty rods of this property one well is now producing fifty barrels per day. Several new wells, lately struck, and joining this property, are now producing oil in paying quantities.

The above property, leases and interests were all secured in August, 1864, and the company is started on the same basis as was then adopted.

The present production is over fifty barrels per day. Taken at the low estimate of $8 per barrel, $400 per day, and twenty-five working days to the month, or $10,000 per month, or 2 per cent. on the par value, and 3⅓ per cent. on the subscription price.

Recent developments on Pit-hole Creek have greatly increased the value of the Alleghany River property, and numerous applications for leases on terms favorable to the company have already been made.

THE CELEBRATION OF OUR VICTORIES.

MEETING OF THE COMMITTEE YESTERDAY.

Discussion on the Propriety of Postponing the Celebration.

Reasons for and Against the Postponement—The Celebration Decided on for Next Saturday.

A large and influential meeting of gentlemen composing the committee on the celebration on the 4th of March of our recent victories in Charleston, Savannah, Wilmington, &c., was held to-day at the Collector's office. MOSES TAYLOR, Esq., occupied the chair. Hon. SAMUEL SLOAN and S. P. CHITTENDEN acted as Secretaries.

Col. HOWE, from the Committee of Arrangements, reported that a large number of circulars of invitation had been issued by the committee, and the numerous responses received expressed a desire to participate in the celebration, among others, Mr. SINGER, Mr. TIFFANY and several large business men of the city. A letter had been sent to the committee from one of our returned soldiers, Sergeant ARMSTRONG, a cavalryman, who suggested that the returned cavalry in the city might be mounted on the occasion, and would, at least, number some fifty men. There would be a citizen's cavalcade, and Gen. DIX's Staff would form a handsome feature in the procession. In addition to this, there would be a separate movement of such commands as remained in the city, which would make a very imposing demonstration. He announced the receipt of a telegraphic message from Boston, from a balloonist, who was ready to ascend in a balloon, adorned with the stars and stripes, at a cost of $600.

Gen. WETMORE—We can put up fifty balloons from this city and they won't cost us altogether $600.

Col. HOWE read a letter received from Gov. ANDREW, who expressed himself in favor of the celebration, but said he did not well understand what was required of him by the committee. The Mayor of Syracuse had also sent a letter stating that he and the citizens of Syracuse would enter heartily into the celebration.

Gen. SANDFORD said he had attended the committee in accordance with an invitation sent to him. But he thought there was hardly time between this and Saturday to get up such arrangements as would be worthy of such a city as New-York. But another difficulty existed. While he thought that the election of Mr. LINCOLN was the most fortunate event of the present crisis of the country, there were a very large number of citizens who thought otherwise; and an impression had gone abroad among them that this was an attempt to celebrate the inauguration of Mr. LINCOLN instead of our victories. He had no objection to the day selected, but very many persons had, and who would be deterred from joining in the celebration on account of that feeling and the day named. His own position was a very peculiar one in trying for a great number of years to keep anything like politics out of the ranks of the First Division of the militia. He found it very difficult to make a parade except under a general order to turn out on a Saturday. The men would rather on that day stay at home and pay the fine. He had never yet done any one act which would suggest to anybody what were his political predilections, nor could he do anything to give his command, the feature that it was celebrating a political or party triumph. He had spoken with Gen. DIX, and he was of the opinion that, while willing to participate in celebrating their victories, the celebration ought to be postponed to another day. He (Gen. SANFORD) thought the celebration would lose nothing, but gain a great deal, by deferring it for ten days from next Saturday. Even Gov. ANDREW said he did not know what the committee wanted; and he thought the subject might be submitted to the good sense of the meeting, whether they would not be acting wisely in postponing the celebration for ten days. He moved a resolution to that effect.

Judge DALY said that a letter received from Gen. GRANT's headquarters expressed great anxiety with regard to Gen. SHERMAN's position, and that the people in the North were not sufficiently aware of Gen. SHERMAN's danger, and that there was probability of disaster attending his movements at present. Would it not, therefore, be wise to postpone the celebration? The meeting was called for Saturday afternoon, which reminded him that on a former occasion a great meeting was held on a Saturday, when the gathering was very small indeed. Saturday was a day when the working classes were engaged in collecting their wages; and it was most desirable that all classes should have an opportunity of attending the celebration, which would not be the case if it took place on a Saturday. He was also aware that the feeling referred to by Gen. SANDFORD very strongly prevailed among a large class of the citizens.

Gen. WETMORE strongly opposed the idea of postponing the celebration.

Mr. CHITTENDEN said that the movement had no odor of politics and that the principal men who had taken part in it did not vote for Mr. LINCOLN. There was no politics connected with it until Mayor GUNTHER opposed it. Postponement would not make it a success, but a failure.

Judge DALY, for his own part thought the 4th of March a very proper day for the celebration. Never was there so great a popular expression as that in favor of Mr. LINCOLN's election, and, although he did not vote for him, there was a certain propriety in selecting the day of his inauguration as the day to celebrate their victories. But he was in the habit of taking things as he found them, and the feeling was very great that it was a celebration of the President's inauguration instead of their victories.

Mr. SHEPPARD said that as to any apprehension of disaster to Gen. SHERMAN, a dispatch had just been received in town stating that Gen. SHERMAN had formed a junction with Gen. SCHOFIELD, but if any disaster should take place to Gen. SHERMAN, the news would not reach them in sufficient time to dampen their ardor. He opposed delay, therefore, in celebrating their victories on the 4th of March. No nation never presented so sublime a spectacle as America on the 4th of March, and it was right that on a day so auspicious they should celebrate the victories to the national flag.

Mr. SLOAN desired to enter his protest against postponing the celebration. He could not believe that the military would hesitate to do honor to the celebration. Those who were at the head of the movement consisted of representative men who could go before the community and say "this is not a partisan celebration, but a celebration in honor of our victories." The spirit should be put down that brought up parties and partisanship in connection with the war. [Applause.] He did not vote for Mr. LINCOLN, but he should not permit Mayor GUNTHER to dictate to him how and when he was to celebrate their victories. [Applause.] If Gen. SANFORD should not order out all the militia they could remain at home.

Gen. SANDFORD replied that he had no other feeling in the matter but to see the celebration a success, and therefore he advised postponement of a celebration in which a large proportion of the citizens would not concur. If they delayed, the Common Council would join in the demonstration, and every store in the city would be closed.

Mr. A. T. STEWART was opposed to delay. If the celebration was held on the 4th of March, he and his men would join in it; but if they postponed it, he would not attend, nor would he permit his men to attend it.

Judge DALY protested against Mr. STEWART's position, that he would not join a movement because others differed from him in its propriety.

Gen. SANDFORD's resolution was then put to the meeting, Judge DALY seconding it, when it was lost, having received the vote of only the proposer and seconder.

The subscription list was then laid on the table, when it was soon numerously signed.

The committee then separated.

PROGRAMME OF ARRANGEMENTS.

After the session of the General Committee this morning at the Custom House, Maj.-Gen. SANFORD was in conference with the Committee of Arrangements in relation to the imposing military feature of the procession, arranging the line of march, &c., &c., the secret and benevolent societies, meeting with the entire co-operation and support of the various commanding officers, who were cognizant of the position of affairs.

The programme for the civic part of the parade, including trade, industrial and mechanic organizations, civic, secret, benefit and masonic societies, is not as yet perfected. But the parade promises to be one of the most emblematic and splendid affairs that has been seen in this city. It is especially desired by the Committee of Arrangements that the several organizations and societies should report as promptly and speedily as possible to the rooms of the committee, Nos. 18 and 19 Astor House, to fully perfect arrangements.

The Veterans of 1812 will appear in uniform.

The thirty-nine German singing societies have been invited, and are expected to take part in the procession, vocalizing some of their choicest music during the course of the march of the procession.

Hearty responsive telegrams have been received from different sections of the country, and it needs but the free and joyous expression of our people to make this one of the greatest national ovations ever heard or witnessed in this country. Let each lover of his country contribute to the grand object, and cheer on our brave boys to the final and glorious close of our triumph.

Invitations have been extended to the Mayor of the City of Brooklyn to join in the celebration; also to him as Colonel of the old and tried Fourteenth Volunteers; likewise special invitation to Gen. DURYEA, commanding the Second division of the New York State Militia to celebrate with us.

We would suggest that the various organizations, societies, associations, and branches of industrial and mechanic arts report as promptly as possible to Col. FRANK E. HOWE, at the rooms of the Committee of Arrangements, for the more perfect and complete arrangement of their programme.

COMMITTEE OF ARRANGEMENTS.

The Steamship City of Boston.

The new screw steamship City of Boston, built for the Liverpool, New-York and Philadelphia steamship Company, arrived in this port a few days ago from Liverpool.

The City of Boston is 305 feet in length, 39 feet in breadth, 27 feet 6 inches in depth, and 2,278 tons, old measurement. The hull is built in six water-tight compartments, each bulkhead running from the keel to the spar deck, and, in effect, guaranteeing the greatest possible security to life should any accident occur at sea, such as, under ordinary circumstances, would be likely to cause a ship to sink. To give additional strength, the deck is from one end to the other made of iron plates of the best quality, manufactured by the Mersey Steel and Iron Company, and upon the plates is laid the ordinary timber deck. The propelling power is supplied by a pair of direct acting trunk engines, of 350 horse-power, nominal, the cylinders being 36 inches diameter, and having a three feet stroke. The boilers are fitted with surface condensers and fired by wings. The screw has a pitch of 24 feet. The vessel is commanded by Capt. KENNEDY, an able and experienced officer. She possesses saloon accommodations for one hundeed passengers, whose comfort is amply provided for, and by sacrificing a small space for cargo, about 700 passengers, in all, could find berths on board. On her trial trip she ran 12¼ knots, or 14 miles per hour, against a strong breeze. The line now possesses thirteen of the finest screw steamships afloat, and two more are on the stocks.

Homicide in East Tenth-street.

ISAAC CUNNINGHAM, a pugilist, died on Monday morning, from a wound by a smoothing iron which Mrs. BRIDGET DONAHUE, of No. 121 First-avenue, threw at his head. CUNNINGHAM had entered Mrs. DONAHUE's abode to see MARY HORAN, a girl to whom he had paid his addresses, and Mrs. DONAHUE having remonstrated, he became abusive and struck her; whereupon she threw at him the smoothing iron with which she was at work. An inquest was held by Coroner GAMBLE, and the jury found that "CUNNINGHAM came to his death by fracture of the skull, with compression of the brain, produced by a blow with a smoothing iron in the hands of BRIDGET DONAHUE." Mrs. DONAHUE, in reply to the usual questions, said: "The reason why I struck him with the smoothing iron was, he insulted me several times, and would not go out of the house when I ordered him out; but I did not intend to injure him or kill him."

WAR DEPARTMENT SPECIAL AGENCY.

Henry Isaacs Off for the Old Capital—Spurious Mother Sponsor for a Recruit—Army Paymaster Appointed at Hart's Island.

A week ago one HENRY ISAACS, of Canal-street, masculine milliner and bounty broker, was summoned before Col. BAKER and required to remit $100 which he had withheld or stolen from a recruit. Isaacs at the time declared with emphasis that he was entirely innocent, and that he had been made the victim of a conspiracy, and on bidding the Colonel adieu he volunteered the offer of $1,000 to any detective who might find another case against him. He then went to his store and wrote a note to the TIMES, advertising his radian purity of character. Since that time Col. BAKER's detectives have ferretted out some information which gives them a clear idea of the man. One day last week Mr. WOLFF, a merchant, appeared at the Astor-house with a letter from Mayor GUNTHER introducing him to Col. BAKER. Mr. WOLFF's son, a lad of seventeen, was spirited away last Autumn, and his parent was unable to learn anything of his whereabouts until recently, when tidings were received from him in the army. He had been cheated, he said, by the person by whom he had been enlisted at Col. FOWLER's office in Brooklyn. Mr. WOLFF desired Col. BAKER to interpose in his behalf in getting the boy's bounty; and the Colonel, in compliance, sent a note to Col. FOWLER and received the following reply:

OFFICE OF THE PROVOST-MARSHAL, }
THIRD CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT, N. Y., }
BROOKLYN, L. I., Feb. 25, 1865. }

COLONEL: In reply to your communication of the 24th instant, I have the honor to state that JOSEPH WOLF was enlisted at this office as a volunteer for one year in the Second New-York Cavalry, to the credit of the First District of New-York, on Sept. 26, 1864. He received $200 as local bounty. The name of the broker was HENRY ISAACS. AMELIA WOLF represented herself as his mother, and signed her consent to his enlistment on the enlistment paper. Said JOSEPH WOLF was enlisted under a special order from the office of the A. A. Provost-Marshal General Southern Division New-York.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant.
E. B. FOWLER, Captain and Provost-Marshal.

Here was Monsieur Tonson come to town again. The honest ISAACS, of Canal-street, was the man; and to him Col. BAKER's detectives again paid their respects. Col. FOWLER, meantime, forwarded to the Astor the enlistment papers upon which young WOLFF was sent into the army, and these, which were seemingly correct except in two particulars, were placed before the prisoner. He acknowledged that he drew them. His attention was then called to the following certificate, which was annexed to the paper:

"I, AMELIA WOLFF, do certify that I am the mother of JOSEPH WOLFF; that the said JOSEPH WOLFF is seventeen years of age; and I do hereby freely give my consent to his volunteering as a soldier in the army of the United States for three years.

Given at Brooklyn, N. Y., the 26th day of September, 1864.
AMELIA ⋈ WOLFF.
Witness, HY. ISAACS."

The penmanship on this paper was manifestly by one hand, and the x was done by pencil. It was clear to Col. BAKER's mind that a forgery had been committed, since if Mrs. WOLFF had given her consent to the enlistment of her boy she would scarcely have kept the circumstance from her husband: but when Mr. WOLFF made known the fact that his wife had been sixteen years in her grave, the fraud was exploded. Col. BAKER demanded the boy's receipt for the local bounty which was said to have been paid him; but this has not been produced. The forgery having been established, ISAACS was ironed and sent forward, last evening, to the Old Capital Prison.

The TIMES has been cognizant of Col. BAKER's movements in New-Jersey, and has kept silent in compliance with the Colonel's request; but as the Newark press has published the following there can be no violation of confidence in copying it thence. The Advertiser says:

"Col. BAKER's detectives have been at work in the Fourth Congressional District in New-Jersey, and a few days ago arrested Dr. JOHN S. STIGER, of Mendham, the examining surgeon, and a broker named SAVIS, for defrauding the Government. It is alleged that STIGER was bribed to pass unfit persons as volunteers. One of Col. BAKER's detectives personated a broker, and giving the bribe to the surgeon, caused his arrest, and the money was found on his person. The accused have been sent to New-York."

An army officer tells us that to prevent the fraudulent deprivation of the money belonging to the men now enlisting in the army, a Paymaster has been stationed at each of the draft rendezvous, for the purpose of receiving all moneys except twenty dollars, which the recruit may have with him on his arrival at his district rendezvous. The money is deposited with the United States, to the credit of the soldier, the Paymaster giving him a check-book entitling him to the amount deposited on reaching the field, or at such time as he may designate. The Paymaster is also authorized, upon the order of the soldier, to draw his check upon his depository for the amount included in such order, and to send it to the family of the soldier, free of all expense. By this order of the War Department, the men now volunteering for the final effort of our armies are protected from the many frauds heretofore perpetrated upon them, and their families receive the full benefit of the large bounties which are being paid them. Maj. JACOB HEBBERT is now on Hart's Island, actively engaged in carrying out the provisions of the order of the War Department.

Semi-Annual Exhibition at St. Francis Xavier's College.

The large hall of St. Francis Xavier's College, in Sixteenth-street, was densely crowded last evening, at the semi-annual exhibition of the debating society. The exercises were very interesting, consisting of addresses, essays, and music. The opening address was made by the chairman, JOHN B. CAHALAN, followed by an essay on "Physical Scenes," by PATRICK LOUGHRAN. Addresses were also made by PETER N. CARROLL, JOHN M. FITZSIMMONS, JAMES J. MURPHY, EDWARD A. KANE, and MICHAEL NEVIN. At the conclusion of the exercises, Archbishop MCCLOSKEY addressed the society in a few well-timed remarks, complimenting the members upon their proficiency, and congratulating their parents upon their progress.

Another Brutal Murder by Bounty-Brokers.

The Special Agency of the War Department having put an end to the bounty-brokers' operations in forged certificates of enlistment, they have entered with desperation into the work of drugging, intimidation, and kidnapping among our youths and those unhappy adults who are given to over-indulgence in drink. They inveigle small boys, and forge their mothers' autographs to the necessary affidavits assenting to their enlistment. They entice youths, sailors, and others into dens in West-street, Cherry, Greenwich, Houston, Hester and other streets, and, filling them with drugged liquor, thrust them into the service before they recover from their drunken stupor; and lastly, when these means fail the bounty-brokerage thieves, they resort to the bludgeon and beat a man into unconsciousness, rob him, and then turn him over to corrupt surgeons in their interest, who pass the recruit and receive a share of the bounty-money. The latest exploit of these banditti is the murder of a seaman—DANIEL LAWRENCE by name—a recent boarder at Mr. ALFRED DICKSON's, at No. 15 Hamilton-street. LAWRENCE went out on Saturday evening and entered a Hester-street liquor-saloon, and was there set upon by a gang of bounty-brokers, who sought to intimidate him into enlisting; but failing in this, they brutally beat and stabbed him and kicked him into the street. He contrived to reach home at about 3 o'clock on Sunday morning, bleeding and nearly exhausted, and in the morning, his wounds having been found to be serious, he was taken to the New-York Hospital. He lingered until yesterday morning. Dr. THOMAS ROBINSON, who made a post-mortem examination, preparatory to an inquest by Coroner COLLIN, found seventeen stabs on the head, chest, and limbs of the deceased. LAWRENCE was a native of Norway, aged 28 years.

Adroit Robbery by Confederate Thieves.

Mr. WM. H. HENDERSON, of the banking-house of J. B. ALEXANDER & CO., of No. 37 William-street, went to the Bank of Commerce, yesterday afternoon, with four bags of gold, containing $5,000 each, and these he left in charge of a boy while he took his place in the line of depositors. Presently he heard the custodian of the gold cry, "Stop thief!" and saw a man dart from the bank. He pursued and gave the alarm, and the fugitive was apprehended in Nassau-street, near Cedar, by Mr. SAMUEL RHODES, of No. 75 Carmine-street, and turned over to the custody of Officer FINCH, of the Broadway Police. Returning to the bank, Mr. HENDERSON found that, while everybody's attention was occupied with the chase in the street, the fugitive's confederate within the bank had stolen another bag, containing $5,000, and made his escape. The prisoner was taken to the Tombs, and on appearing before Justice DOWLING, was recognized as one "Dutch HEINDRICK." He rendered the name of LEVI SMITH. Justice DOWLING committed him without bail.

BROOKLYN NEWS.

THE NEW COURT-HOUSE.

Its Inauguration Last Night—An Immense Crowd Present—Description of the Building.

The new Court-house was thrown open for inspection last evening, to all who were provided with tickets—the object being to give the ladies an opportunity to see all that was to be seen under the most favorable circumstances. The throng was so great, however, that the building could not be examined with any degree of satisfaction. There were, perhaps, 10,000 persons present up to 11 o'clock. The building was brilliantly illuminated, and with the flags on the pediments front and rear, presented a fine appearance, both without and within. The music was furnished by Conner's Band, and the opening passed off pleasantly. To-night the admittance will be without tickets.

The following is a description of the building, which is the finest in all respects in Brooklyn:

The Kings County Court-house is situated on Jeralemon street, fronting Fulton-street, and extends to Livingston street, occupying a plat of ground 350 feet in depth and 140 feet in width.

The building, which is in the Corinthian style of architecture, is 140 feet front, the full width of the lot, and 315 feet deep, leaving a large space on the Livingston-street front for a court-yard.

The main front, on Jerolemon-street, is faced with Westchester County marble, while the remainder of the edefice is composed of brick; the Livingston-street front being trimmed with marble.

The portico and collonade, supported by four marble columns, occupying the centre of the main front, is 54 feet in width. The height of the building, from the sidewalk to the top of the balustrade, is 62 feet, the pedement 67 feet, and the dome, constructed of wrought and cast iron, rises to an altitude of 106 feet. There are three stories, the first 16 feet in the clear, the second 15 feet and the third 14 feet. The basement is 10 feet high.

The interior can be gained by three entrances, through which the visitor reaches the Rotunda, which is 52 feet in diameter and 95 feet in the clear, lighted from the Dome by a glass 17 feet in diameter. There are 16 iron columns each 28 feet high, surrounding the balcony, which, together with the beautiful fresco work and ornamental paneling, presents an agreeable as well as an artistic appearance.

The entrances to the different departments lead from the Rotunda, which is provided with two massive iron staircases on either side, to the balcony landing of the second floor.

The corridors, extending the entire length of the building, are laid with marble floors, and cealed with groined arches. All the courts and offices front on these corridors, both on the first and second floors.

The apartments on the first floor commencing from the right of the rotunda, are occupied as follows, in the succession named:

The Surrogate's Court is the first in order. The main room is 27 by 70 feet in extent, with private room 36 by 16. The janitor's office adjoins the private room.

The Treasurer's Department contains two rooms, the first 18 by 26 feet, and the second 15 by 36.

The Sheriff occupies three apartments, the first 15 by 41; the second, 15 by 32, and the third 15 by 15.

The central staircase intervenes here and then comes the Court of Sessions, which is 48 by 52 feet in extent, with Judge's chamber 18 by 26 feet. All the court rooms have the same dimensions, and all are provided with galleries for the accommodation of miscellaneous audiences.

Returning to the front and passing along the left of the rotundo we come to the District Attorney's office, the main room of which is 37 by 27 feet, with a private room 16 by 26 feet.

Law Library Department, main room 42 by 27 feet, and private room, 22 by 13 feet.

The Coroner's office is 18 by 26 feet, and private room, 9 by 16 feet.

The Park Commissioner's rooms adjoins the above.

Again passing the central stairs, the first apartments are those of the Commissioner of Jurors—one of which is 18 by 26 feet, and the other 10 by 26 feet.

The Reporter's room adjoins this. The dimensions are 15 by 52 feet.

The office of the Superintendents of the Poor is next in order, consisting of three rooms, respectively, 15 by 38—12 by 15 and 38 by 15 in dimensions—the last on the corridor.

The arrangements on the second floor are similar to those on the first. On the right of the rotunda is the County Clerk's office, with an arched ceiling 30 feet high and furnished with a skylight. The dimensions of the main room are 70 by 20 feet, and the committee room 16 by 36 feet.

The rooms of the Courts of General and Special Term, and of the Board of Supervisors are of the same dimensions and general fitting up as the Court of Sessions on the lower corridor.

The first office on the left of the main entrance is that of the Register, which is 28 by 80 feet; copylists' room, 16 by 36 feet, and mass room 22 by 14 feet.

The Circuit Court and City Court came next in rotation, which ends the description of the second floor.

The third floor is occupied by the janitor, Grand and Petit Juries, and a number of rooms still unappropriated.

The basement is ten feet in height, and contains four rooms, provided with heating apparatus, by which the entire structure is warmed. There are also six cells for the temporary detention of prisoners while on trial before the courts &c., &c.

The front on Livingston-street is 64 feet in height, from the flagging to the top of the pediment, and 124 feet wide, leaving a carriage-way on each side for poor-house and prison vans, carts with fuel, &c.

The building is well warmed, well lighted and ventilated. All the different departments are provided with dressing-rooms, &c., and, in fact, everything is arranged in the best manner possible.

The structure was commenced in the fall of 1861, and labor and material being then cheap, contracts were entered into to complete it for $247,892. Since that period everything has been enhanced in value, and the total cost, including, however, the furnishing of every department, has been raised to the sum of $545,000. This does not include the land, which cost $73,000, making the sum total for land and building complete, $618,000.

The Building Committee of the Board of Supervisors, who had general supervision of affairs from the laying of the foundation to the present time, are Messrs. SAMUEL BOOTH, GEORGE G. HERMAN and CHAS. C. TALBOT. The Architects and Superintendants are Messrs. G. KING and H. THOMAS.

CASE OF WIFE-MURDER.

Trial of Frank Ferris for the Murder of Mary Ferris.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Recorder Hoffman.

The case of Francisco or Frank Ferris, indicted for the murder of his wife Mary Ferris, came up for trial yesterday morning. The District-Attorney stated in his opening that this case was what the books call an old-fashioned grudge-murder. There were no circumstances in this case that would make it other than murder in the first degree. The prisoner and his wife had lived together unhappily for some months previous to the commission of the fatal act. He had frequently made threats that he would kill her, and she, by her whole conduct on the night of the murder, showed that she was aware of the danger to her life from the malicious vengeance of the accused, and sought to avoid her husband to secure her life.

The first witness called for the prosecution was Dr. Wm. F. Cushman, who was examined by Assistant District-Attorney Robert C. Hutchings, and testified that he was a surgeon in the New-York Hospital in September last; on the 10th of September, he made a post-mortem examination of the body of Mary Ferris; there was a compound fracture of the skull, and a lacerated wound appeared extending into the substance of the brain; the brain protruded through the wound and was much lacerated; such a wound might be inflicted by an axe; there was no other wound; death resulted from these wounds, or compression and concussion of the brain, caused by blows from some heavy instrument.

Cross-examined.—The blow must have been inflicted by a powerful man.

David Magel, sworn for the prosecution.—Is a physician and surgeon in the New York Hospital; treated Mary Ferris when she was admitted to the hospital on the 9th of Sept.; she was insensible when brought there and died the next day; the witness described the wound in similar terms to the previous witness.

Cross-examined.—I have no information as to who the woman that I call Mary Ferris was other than that derived from the policemen and her friends who brought her there.

Timothy Kenneday, sworn, testified that he was an officer of the Metropolitan Police, attached to the Fourth Precinct; saw the prisoner at the bar on the 9th of September last, between seven and eight o'clock, on the sidewalk, in front of No. 32 James-street; his wife was with him; prisoner wanted to go up-stairs, and his wife did not want to have him go up; I told him not to bother her, and went away; about three-quarters of an hour after I heard the cry of watch, and ran up-stairs to the fifth floor of No. 32 James-street; we found the door fastened, and I told him that if he did not open it, we would burst it in; he then opened the door, and we found the woman, his wife, lying on the floor; Ferris had nothing on but his pants and stockings; the axe was lying on the floor beside the woman, and Ferris was covered with blood; the woman was bleeding profusely from the head; I took Ferris off, and then helped take the woman to the hospital; the blood ran from her wounds, and when she was lifted up part of her brains were left on the floor; the axe was covered with blood; we also found a small knife on the floor; the prisoner said nothing, but went quietly to the Station-house; the door was fastened with a bolt.

Cross-examined.—I had known Mrs. Ferris before her death; they were supposed to be man and wife when I first knew them; the knife that we found was open and covered with blood and long hair, the end of the blade was broken; there was a cut upon the arm of the prisoner when I arrested him; it was nearly ten o'clock when I made the arrest.

Mary Bradley, sworn for the prosecution.—Resides at No. 25 Monroe-street; knew the prisoner and his wife; Mary Ferris worked for me at washing and scrubbing for the last five years; I have seen the prisoner at my house occasionally, and have seen them together; I saw Mary Ferris on the day of the murder; she worked for me until four o'clock that day, and she afterward came back to my house about eight o'clock and staid until nearly nine o'clock; next saw her at the City Hospital after she was hurt; she was covered with blood and bleeding freely from her head; I was with her the next day at the hospital, and stayed with her until she died; the doctor who was last on the stand attended her; I prepared her for burial; the week before the murder the prisoner came to my house to look for his wife; he went down on his knees in my room and swore that he would kill his wife Mary and then he would kill himself; I asked him what would become of his children, and he said that they could go on the Island; he said that he thought he had finished her once, but the next time he would do it; no funning; two months previous to this she was brought to my house cut with an axe; I kept her three weeks until she got well again; I gave her money to go to a doctor; she was a temperate woman.

Cross-examined.—I had known her about five years; I knew her before their marriage; I saw but little of him; I never had any quarrels with him; I have seen that axe before in their rooms; I never saw the knife before; Mrs. Ferris was of a very good disposition; she had two children by her first husband and one by Ferris; they had not always lived together; he had enlisted twice and deserted.

Re-direct.—Once before I told him that he ought to go to work and support his wife and children; he said that he would not go.

Margaret Johnson, sworn for the prosecution, testified she resided in Mulberry-street in September last, and knew Mary Ferris; was in the house No. 31 James-street on the day of the murder; Mary Ferris brought her child into the room where I was and left it to be minded; Frank Ferris came in several times to ask for his wife; the last time he came in Ferris got down on his knees and said: "Blessed Virgin, I hope the policeman will take me, or she will see something before nine o'clock to-night;" he then went down stairs and took out his knife and commenced sharpening it on the stone door-step; the knife now shown me looks like the one he had then; in the evening she stopped on the way up to her room, and said that she would go up and see what he was doing; she got a knife and took it up with her; we heard them talking then, and heard the cry of watch and murder; Ferris was standing in his pants all covered with blood; Mrs. Ferris lay on the floor bleeding from wounds in the head; I saw the axe on the floor.

Cross-examined.—When he came into the room and went down on his knees it was daylight; Mrs. Ferris seemed to be a gentle woman.

Alice Belton, sworn for the prosecution, testified that she was the sister of deceased, and lived at No. 120 Madison-street; remained with my sister at the hospital all the night that she died; on the day of the murder Ferris came to my place, and I told him to go away, that he was a loafer; he said he would go home and kill my sister and then come back and kill me; my sister often came to me with black eyes; he never gave her any support since he jumped the bounty; my sister was a sober, temperate, hard-working woman; I have seen Ferris strike her.

Cross-examined.—I have seen Ferris in court; I did make a rush at him a day or two ago, and said to him you villain for killing my sister.

Mary Atherton, sworn for the prosecution.—Resides at No. 31 James-street on the third floor; Ferris' room was on the fourth floor; on the day of the murder Mrs. Ferris left her child in my care; Ferris came into my room several times to ask for his wife. The testimony of this witness was corroborative of that of Margaret Johnson.

Catharine Baker, sworn for the prosecution.—Resides at No. 31 James-street, and had a room on the same floor with the Ferris family; knew Frank and Mary Ferris; about three months before the murder I heard her screaming in her room, and saw her run out with her head all cut and bleeding. [This witness was not cross-examined.]

Mary Douglas, sworn for the prosecution.—Knows Fank Ferris and knew Mary Ferris; on the day Mary Ferris was killed the prisoner came into my house; I asked him about his wife; he said never mind, I would see more before 9 o'clock that night.

Charles F. Williams, sworn for the prosecution.—Is a sergeant of the Forth Precinct Police; remembers the occurrence of the killing of Mary Ferris; saw Ferris that evening; he said that he had been to the station-house to make a complaint against his wife, who refused to let him in the house; he did not tell me what the difficulty was; I told him I guessed if he went home and was quiet he could get in.

William Evans sworn for the prosecution: Lives at No. 31 James-street; remember when Mrs. Ferris was murdered; saw Ferris on the morning of that day setting on the steps at No. 31 James-street whetting a long knife on the stones; this knife now shown me looks like the one he had; I saw the woman after Ferris had been taken away.

At this stage of the proceedings, the court was obliged to adjourn in consequence of the absence of one of the witnesses for the prosecution. The trial will be resumed this morning.

Assistant District-Attorney Robert C. Hutchings for the people; John H. Anthon, Esq., and William F. Kinzing for the prisoner.

Interesting to Common Carriers.

SUPREME COURT—CIRCUIT.

Before Justice Leonard.

John Nieman vs. The Grand Trunk Railway of Canada.—This was an action brought for the recovery of a large quantity of tools which were shipped by the plaintiff for New-York, at a station on the Grand Trunk Railway, at or near Toronto, in February, 1863. The testimony showed that the Grand Trunk Railway conveyed the goods in question to Portland, Me., and that they were there transhipped to a steamer of H. B. Cromwell's line, which delivered the property in question at her wharf in this city. No one calling for the merchandise within the period usual in such cases, it was sent to a storehouse with a view to its being sold. The Judge who tried the case, decided, after hearing all the testimony, that the only question was as to the construction to be given to the contract contained in some special regulations on the back of the receipt given to the consignor in Canada, by the defendant's agents, at the time of the delivery of the goods to them for transportation to New-York. One of the conditions printed on the back of the receipt was to the effect that the defendants agreed to convey the property for which they gave their receipt, to the end of their route, and upon its being delivered to another line of transportation, running thence to the place designated for the delivery of the goods, they were relieved from all responsibility. The Judge held that inasmuch as the plaintiff knew of these conditions at the time the goods were shipped, and the fact having been proved that Cromwell & Co. had delivered them in New-York, their place of destination, though they could not be found by the plaintiff until near a year subsequent to February, 1863, the defendants were not liable as common carriers. The result would have been different, the court said, if the suit had been against Cromwell & Co., the owners of the line between Portland and New-York. The jury by direction of the court, therefore, rendered a verdict for the defendants. Leave was granted to plaintiff to take the case to the General term, without the usual security for costs.

Liabilities of Landlords for Negligence.

SUPREME COURT—CIRCUIT.

Before Justice Johnson.

Michael Quinlan by his next friend, vs. Archibald Russell.—The plaintiff in the suit, Michael Quinlan is a boy about seven years of age. His parents occupied a tenement house at No. 74 Pitt-street. For the purpose of making repairs about two years ago, the landlord of the premises, Mr. Russell caused to be constructed a mortar-bed in the rear yard. During the process of slacking the lime, the plaintiff, as was claimed by his counsel, accidentally fell into the lime-bed. He was burned in a terrible manner about the legs, hands and arms, and the surgeon who testified thought that he was crippled for life. On the part of the defence, it was shown that repairs to the premises were necessary; that the lime-bed was placed in that part of the yard which would least inconvenience the tenants, and there was some testimony tending to show that the injured child had been pushed into the lime-bed by another child, while the two were playing. Upon a motion to dismiss the complaint, made by defendant's counsel, the Court thought the evidence was insufficient to sustain the action, as against the landlord, and the complaint was accordingly dismissed. For plaintiff, Mr. R. M. Huntley; for defendant, Mr. Wm. A. Butler.
